Hungary Rioters Win; Nagy Premier

VIENNA, Austria (AP) — Radio Budapest announced Wednesday that the once-purged Imre Nagy would become Hungary's new premier.

Nagy is a former premier who was ousted from his job in April 1955. He was restored to good graces in the Communist party hierarchy last Oct. 14.

Nomination of Nagy to premiership by Hungary's Presidential Council was a capitulation to popular demand.

Tens of thousands of demonstrators roamed the streets of Budapest shouting for Nagy and denouncing the Russians.

The situation became so bad a state of emergency was declared.

Ernoe Geroe, successor to Matyas Rakosi as chief of the Hungarian Communist party, made a surprise broadcast calling lies any rumors that Hungary wants to loosen its ties with the Soviet Union.

Geroe had just returned from talks with President Tito in Yugoslavia where the parties of the two nations pledged noninterference in each other's internal affairs.

The broadcast station fraternized with the demonstrators.

A delegation of demonstrators got into the radio station and was prevented from leaving. The crowd began to surge to the rescue. Uniformed police used tear gas bombs to eject them.

Thousands of students and workers took part in demonstrations during the afternoon, crying, "Out with the Russians" and, "We want a change in the government."

By night the crowd grew into an unruly group numbering probably 100,000.

Five trucks of soldiers with rifles rushed to the narrow street where the Hungarian state radio is located.

The soldiers were friendly. There was much fraternization between them and the crowd.

The demonstrators jibed, "Go home." That was what the soldiers did. The trucks backed up finally and the soldiers left.

Trucks packed with demonstrators careened about, their occupants waving the Hungarian tricolor flag but minus the Russian-style coat of arms imposed by the Communists in past years.

Meantime, in Stalin Square the crowd kept up its anti-Russian chanting.

It raised cries of, "Imre Nagy for premier."

Nagy is the former premier who was deposed on Titos charges but rehabilitated and restored to party membership last week.

All telephone and photo-telegraph lines with the West were reported broken down. An operator said they could not connect with Vienna, London or Paris "because of a technical break."

But the lines with Prague, Czechoslovakia, remained in good order.

Farmers Market Loses $75-$100, Merle's Liquor Out $100 to $150

By AL EDEE
Star Staff Writer

A blond bandit armed with a revolver held up a market and then a liquor store at opposite ends of Lincoln within a hour's time Tuesday night taking between $75 to $100.

The young robber showed nervousness as he entered the Farmers Market at 4300 So. 14th, demanded cash and forced owner Glenn Woolery of 3100 So. 16th and his son Donn of 1711 Stockwell to lie on the floor as he disappeared with $75 to $100.

The first robbery occurred at 10:45 p.m. shortly before the grocery's closing time.

At 11:40 p.m.; a man answering the same description held up Merle's Liquor Store in West Lincoln adjacent to Cornhusker Highway. The holdup man forced attendant Alvin Wilken, 32, of 822

Santa Monica, to hand over between $100 and $150, then told him to lie on the floor as he walked out the door.

"Damn Cool"

Wilken said the man was "damn cool, a lot more so than I was."

Though a car apparently was used in the holdups, none of the victims saw or heard it.

The sheriff's office, Safety Patrol and Lincoln Police all co-operated in setting up road checks.

The grocery store owner, Woolery, said a man "about 21 to 23, wearing green pants, shirt and jacket, a brown hunter's cap, walked into the store just like any other customer."

Blue-Steel 45

He pointed what Woolery said was a .45 blue steel revolver at the owner and said "gimme the money."

"He seemed nervous when I gave him the money from the register. The money is insured but I would have given it up whether it was or not," the owner said.

"He told Donn to come up from behind the meat counter to where the cash register was located," Woolery said.

"Then he told us to lie down on the floor and stay there. We didn't move for two or three minutes after he walked out. Donn crept behind the counter to the telephone and called police," the elder Woolery said.

"The thing didn't take more than a few minutes," he added.

Thirty-two year-old Alvin Wilken was reading a newspaper, alone inside Merle's Liquor Store, when "a man walked in the door and pulled a gun from inside his jacket."

"I said 'help yourself,' " he said and laid it out on the counter," Wilken, a cousin of store owner Merle Wilken of Route 2, said.

"He grabbed up the money, wadded it up and strolled out," Wilken related.

"Just before he left he said 'you'd better lie down,' and I did. I saw him looking at me, he started going east up the highway. I waited a minute and called the sheriff."

"He was dressed in green and wearing white gloves," Wilken said.

12-15 Super Bombs Set Off

WASHINGTON (INS) — The White House government paper's detailed summary of nuclear weapons testing revealed that approximately one fifth of the explosions that have been set off by the U. S. have been "high yield" hydrogen bombs.

This would mean at least 12 to 15 super bombs in the city-destroying category were exploded. Only five H-bomb tests have been specifically announced as such, but it had been assumed that a number of the blasts set off in the Pacific last spring were new types of H-bombs.

President Rejects H-Test Halt Plan

Ike—
We Don't Dare Stop
Blasts, For Sake
Of Peace, Must 'Continue'

By STERLING F. GREEN
WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower said Tuesday night that "for the sake of peace itself" America must continue its hydrogen bomb tests until securely guarded international agreements make it safe to end them.

Eisenhower, in detail, rejected the arguments advanced by Adlai Stevenson, the Democratic presidential candidate, for taking steps now to end the H-bomb explosions.

"We must continue . . .", Eisenhowe said, "to develop our strength in the most advanced weapons — for the sake of our own national safety, for the sake of all free nations, for the sake of peace itself . . .".

"There is nothing in postwar history to justify the belief that we should — or that we could even dare — to accept anything less than sound safeguards and controls for any disarmament arrangements."

14 Proposals

Eisenhower asserted that in the last two years Russia "has rejected no less than 14 American proposals on disarmament and controls of nuclear weapons."

In a discussion of radioactive fallout, including strontium 90, Eisenhower referred to the Stevenson argument that America should "stop sending this dangerous material into the air."

The President said that fallout cannot be avoided by limiting tests to the smaller nuclear weapons, and to think that it can be is to show an apparent unawareness of the facts."

The President said that fallout cannot be avoided by limiting tests to the smaller nuclear weapons, and to think that it can be is to show an apparent unawareness of the facts."

And for America to suspend its work on the H-bomb, he said, would mean "we could find our present commanding lead in nuclear weapons erased or even reversed."

The president's statement accompanied and summarized a report drawn up on Eisenhower's orders by Secretary of State Dulles and chairman Lewis L. Strauss of the Atomic Energy Commission.

Eisenhower ordered the report as a documentation of his stand against a halt to H-bomb testing in the present situation of no international controls.

The Eisenhower statement said America would never cease striving for "a system of dependable controls government disarmament." He said:

"I remain profoundly hopeful that — if we stay strong and steadfast — the reality of significant world disarmament will come to pass."

Some of Eisenhower's major points upholding continuance of H-bomb tests:

War deterrent — "The power of these (nuclear) weapons to deter aggression and to guard world peace would be lost if we failed to hold our superiority in these weapons."

Discipline

Fallout — "The most recent tests enable us to harness and discipline our weapons more precisely and effectively — drastically reducing their fallout and making them more easy to concentrate, if ever used, upon military objectives."

Detection — "We believe we have detected practically all such tests to date. It is, however, impossible — in view of the vast Soviet landmass that can screen our tests — to have positive assurance of such detection, except in the case of the largest weapons."

The source added that Pravda within the next day or so will print a virtual retraction. This would take the form of reprinting excerpts from Polish newspaper articles denouncing Pravda's attack as "clumsy interference."

The source added that Gomulka and Premier Josef Cyrankiewicz will go to Moscow this week, probably Friday. They will talk with the Soviet Party Presidium (Politburo).

The discussions are expected to end with a joint declaration similar to that with which Khrushchev patched up Moscow's quarrel with President Tito of Yugoslavia,

Adlai— Dulles 'In' Too Long Demo Asks Help For Poland Bid At Freedom

By ED CREAGH

NEW YORK (AP)—Adlai E. Stevenson accused the Eisenhower administration Tuesday night of worldwide failure in foreign policy and told a cheering crowd in Madison Square Garden that Secretary of State Dulles has been kept "in the pitcher's box" one brick too long."

Stevenson urged all possible aid in helping Poland toward freedom. His speech was resoundingly applauded by a crowd which failed to fill the famed New York sports amphitheater.

Stevenson, the Democratic presidential candidate, assailed Dulles and Vice President Nixon by name and his mentions of them were greeted by loud boozing.

Under Dulles' tenure as secretary of state, Stevenson said, America's policy has been "blundering vacillation," and has seen the world turned into "a trail of gunpowder from Korea to Cyprus."

'Laundering'

And, said Stevenson, Americans will not trust the hydrogen bomb to Vice President Nixon despite "facelifting and hand laundering," which he said has been administered to Nixon in the name of "public rehabilitation."

The audience was slow in entering the arena but by the time he started to speak, it had grown to what Democratic party spokesmen said was 18,000 persons. In 1952 Stevenson drew an overflow crowd in his Madison Square Garden rally, with thousands turned away.

Stevenson's speech was interrupted 45 times by applause and more than a dozen times by laughter at his pointed barbs.

Because of the interruptions and preliminary introductions, Stevenson cut his speech as he went along, trying to fit it into what was left of the half hour of TV and radio time. Even so, he ran over by about three minutes and was cut off the air.

'Into Trap'

Stevenson was introduced by New York Gov. Averell Harriman, who said Eisenhower "has fallen into the Kremlin propaganda trap" in his latest rejection of the Soviet proposal to ban H-bomb tests.

Stevenson made a dramatic entrance. The auditorium was darkened except for revolving spotlights until he appeared.

Kennean said he didn't take the stand because "I couldn't cross-examine myself" and "could have been put under all kinds of suspicion."

Claims Witnesses Saw

In his summary, Fahrbruch said the state witnesses saw Keeney go into and later come out of the home of Mrs. Kubat.

"Are you going to believe that story about wanting to visit an old girl friend?" the attorney asked.

Detective Capt. Paul Beave testified he found $490.30 in Keeney's pocket and a child's bus token when the defendant was found in a nearby weed patch.

Mrs. Kubat had testified that between $470 and $490 was taken from her purse lying on the bed.

Killings And Riots Erupt Across N. Africa

Arab Anger Mounts High ... After Arrests

ALGIERS (AP) — Killings, riots, general strikes and bitter Arab anger erupted across North Africa Tuesday.

The widespread violence was the Arab reply to France's arrest of five masterminds of Algeria's nationalist rebellion through a dramatic aerial ruse Monday night.

Eight Europeans were killed by a mob in Meknes, Morocco, including a woman and her husband who were hacked to death, French sources said. The mob also killed a Moroccan officer of the municipal guard.

A street demonstration broke out elsewhere in Morocco and in Tunisia.

The whole Arab world began rising a diplomatic storm.

Dag Urged To Act

The 23-nation Asian-African group at the U.N. in New York was reported asking Secretary General Dag Hammarskjold's good offices in seeking release of the five revolutionaries. The five were grabbed and handcuffed Monday after their French pilot landed them in French-controlled Algiers instead of independent Tunisia on a flight from independent Morocco.

A meeting of Morocco's Sultan Sidi Mohammed Ben Yousef and Premier Habid Bourguiba of Tunisia, which had been billed as a conference to bring peace to Algeria and weld it into a new Union of North Africa, appeared to have been broken up.

The five Algerian leaders were en route to the conference when they were diverted by the French pilot's ruse.

Arab leaders called it a kidnapping and an act of piracy.

The Moroccan Sultan was particularly incensed. This conference was his first big diplomatic move in the Arab world.

But in Paris, French Premier Guy Mollet was lustily cheered by the French National Assembly when he announced the arrests. He said he could not accept open Tunisian and Moroccan interference in French-Algerian affairs.

5 Yanks Aboard U.S. Liaison Plane Missing In Spain

MADRID, Spain (AP) — The U.S. Air Force searched without success Tuesday for an American liaison plane missing since Monday with five men aboard.

The plane left Madrid Monday afternoon. It was to have followed the course of a 500-mile pipeline the Americans are building to Zaragoza, then continue to Muntadas Airport in Barcelona over rugged mountainous terrain.

Low-hanging clouds hampered the aerial search.

Names of the three officers and two airmen aboard were not released. They were stationed in the Sevilla area. The plane was part of a small fleet of light observation planes being formed to patrol the pipeline for breaks.

Administrative Cost Of Ton-Mile Tax Assailed By Camp

The next session of the Nebraska legislature may be asked to appropriate funds for ton-mile tax administration, Bernie Camp, information director for the Nebraska Farm Bureau, said.

Administrative cost has been important in decisions of 11 states, Camp explained, which have had the ton-mile and repealed it. In writing the proposed Nebraska law, he continued, "the supporters completely ignored administrative costs."

"They made parts of entry of the State Department of Agriculture and Inspection responsible for administration, but offered no provision for salaries of inspectors at the ports of entry or auditors will 'circuit ride' the state to check the books of trucking companies."

Indication that there was no plan for administrative costs in the ton-mile proposal, Camp said, is that no allowance for administrative figures appeared in the reports sent to county, city and village boards by the supporters of the bill. These reports, he asserted, stipulated the shares of the ton-mile revenue to be given to these communities.

Bankers Warned

LOS ANGELES (INS) — American bankers were warned that they must not be carried away by "prosperity fever."

The advice came from Fred F. Florence of Dallas, Texas, retiring president of the American Banking Association, as he spoke at the organization's 82nd annual convention in Los Angeles.

Florence said:

"The past year has witnessed one of the strongest pressures of demand for capital and credit ever experienced in our economy."

Registered Voters Up To 55,180 ... Record Predicted

Total Lincoln voter registration climbed to 55,180 persons Tuesday night—just 655 short of the record 55,833 recorded in May, 1953.

Election Commissioner Harold Gillett predicted that the old record will be bettered by 1,000 by the time registrations close at 5 p.m. Friday.

New registrations Tuesday totalled 446 and change of addresses 246. Potential voters may register until 9 p.m. Wednesday and Thursday nights at the election commission's office in the Trust Building, 10th and O.

Gillett said a ticket plan will be used for persons showing up to register near the 5 p.m. Friday deadline. At exactly 5 p.m. tickets will be distributed—starting at the back of the line—to persons waiting to register. The office will remain open to accommodate those with tickets only.

Meanwhile, Deputy Election Commissioner B. E. (Pat) Boyles said Tuesday that their office has mailed out about 875 absentee ballots for the November general election.

Boyles said there are 1,000 absentee ballots on the books. The remainder of the ballots were voted at the election commission's office.

"This represents a fairly heavy count," the deputy election commissioner stated, "but it is less than the 1,500 issued for the 1952 general election."

The ballot that traveled furthest this year went to Antarctica—and that's about as far away as you can get," Boyles commented.

Refinery Flash Fire Controlled, 2 Men Burned

BEAUMONT, Tex. (AP) — A dangerous, spectacular flash fire erupted in the sprawling Magnolia refinery here but was brought under control quickly, although flames lapped along the ground for several hours in pools of gasoline.

Two men were critically burned. The fire was confined to the immediate area. The company barred newsmen from the refinery.

It was termed a flash fire, rather than an explosion, by Magnolia officials. Production continued normally after the fire was controlled.

C.A. Reeves, night superintendent, said a small pipe or a gauge apparently broke, spilling gasoline over the area. Apparently the fumes were ignited from a welding machine being used on a nearby unit.

Nebraska Farms Down In Value; U.S. Average Up

WASHINGTON (AP)

—The agriculture department reported Tuesday that farm real estate in Nebraska had declined three per cent during the past year.

Only other states in which land values declined, according to the department, were Colorado five per cent and Kentucky one.

The report prefaced these statistics by saying that a boom in farm land prices which started two years ago continues to feature the nation's farm real estate market.

Total value of all farm real estate in the country was estimated at $103,700,000,000, a record high and nearly four billion dollars over that of a year ago.

Jury Charges

Union's Funds

Mishandled

CHICAGO (AP) — Angelo Inciso, 43, president of Local 236 of the United Industrial Workers, Tuesday was indicted by a federal grand jury on charges of mismanaging $420,267 paid by employers into the union's health and welfare fund.

Inciso is charged with violation of the Taft-Hartley Act by failing to set up a joint trusteeship of the welfare fund by the union and employers, and not forwarding the money to an insurance company for benefits for union members.

Inciso has a police record dating back to 1930 and has served prison terms for grand larceny and illegal transportation of liquor.

The city has provided him with two policemen for body guards since gunmen shot and wounded him in an ambush April 29, 1953.

Maximum penalty would be 22 years in prison and a $220,000 fine.

Actor Sued

HOLLYWOOD (INS) — Joe Kirkwood Jr., who plays Joe Palooka in the movies, was sued for $5,000 by a writer who has been preparing a series of scripts casting the actor as a championship golfer.

The writer, Lee Loab, charged that he was not paid by Kirkwood for work on a pilot script for the new series. Kirkwood confirmed that he was trying to change from a celluloid puncher to a devotee, but claimed the script was not suitable.

Killings And Riots Erupt Across N. Africa

Arab Anger Mounts High ... After Arrests

ALGIERS (AP) — Killings, riots, general strikes and bitter Arab anger erupted across North Africa Tuesday.

The widespread violence was the Arab reply to France's arrest of five masterminds of Algeria's nationalist rebellion through a dramatic aerial ruse Monday night.

Eight Europeans were killed by a mob in Meknes, Morocco, including a woman and her husband who were hacked to death, French sources said. The mob also killed a Moroccan officer of the municipal guard.

Street demonstration broke out elsewhere in Morocco and in Tunisia.

The whole Arab world began rising a diplomatic storm.

Dag Urged To Act

The 23-nation Asian-African group at the U.N. in New York was reported asking Secretary General Dag Hammarskjold's good offices in seeking release of the five revolutionaries. The five were grabbed and handcuffed Monday after their French pilot landed them in French-controlled Algiers instead of independent Tunis on a flight from independent Morocco.

A meeting of Morocco's Sultan Sidi Mohammed Ben Youssef and Premier Habid Bourguiba of Tunisia, which had been billed as a conference to bring peace to Algeria and weld it into a new Union of North Africa, appeared to have been broken up.

The five Algerian leaders were en route to the conference when they were diverted by the French pilot's ruse.

Arab leaders called it a kidnapping and an act of piracy.

The Moroccan Sultan was particularly incensed. This conference was his first big diplomatic move in the Arab world.

But in Paris, French Premier Guy Mollet was lustily cheered by the French National Assembly when he announced the arrests. He said he could not accept open Tunisian and Moroccan interference in French-Algerian affairs.

5 Yanks Aboard U.S. Liaison Plane Missing In Spain

MADRID, Spain (AP) — The U.S. Air Force searched without success Tuesday for an American liaison plane missing since Monday with five men aboard.

The plane left Madrid Monday afternoon. It was to have followed the course of a 500-mile pipeline the Americans are building to Zaragoza, then continue to Muntadas Airport in Barcelona over rugged mountainous terrain.

Low-hanging cloud banks hampered the aerial search.

Names of the three officers and two airmen aboard were not released. They were stationed in the Sevilla area. The plane was part of a small fleet of light observation planes being formed to patrol the pipeline for breaks.

Wheat Champion

Rolland Roberts of Bayard was named grand champion of the 1956 state wheat show, held at Alliance. Roberts showed samples of Cheyenne wheat, testing 66.1 pounds per bushel. He was also selected western division winner in the open class winter wheat samples and the market division. (Photo Special to The Star)

Administrative Cost Of Ton-Mile Tax Assailed By Camp

The next session of the Nebraska legislature may be asked to appropriate funds for ton-mile tax administration, Bernie Camp, information director for the Nebraska Farm Bureau, said.

Administrative cost has been important in decisions of 11 states, Camp explained, which have had a ton-mile and repealed it. In writing the proposed Nebraska law, he continued, "the supporters completely ignored administrative costs."

"They made ports of entry of the State Department of Agriculture and Inspection responsible for administration, but offered no provision for salaries of inspectors at the ports of entry or auditors will 'circuit ride' the state to check the books of trucking companies."

Indication that there was no plan for administrative costs in the ton-mile proposal, Camp said, is that no allowance for administrative figures appeared in the reports sent to county, city and village boards by the supporters of the bill. These reports, he asserted, stipulated the shares of the ton-mile revenue to be given to these communities.

Bankers Warned

LOS ANGELES (INS) — American bankers were warned that they must not be carried away by "prosperity fever."

The advice came from Fred F. Florence of Dallas, Texas, retiring president of the American Banking Association, as he spoke at the organization's 82nd annual convention in Los Angeles.

Florence said:

"The past year has witnessed one of the strongest pressures of demand for capital and credit ever experienced in our economy."

Registered Voters Up To 55,180 ... Record Predicted

Total Lincoln voter registration climbed to 55,180 persons Tuesday night—just 655 short of the record 55,835 recorded in May, 1953.

Election Commissioner Harold Gillett predicted that the old record will be bettered by 1,000 by the time registrations close at 5 p.m. Friday.

New registrations Tuesday totalled 446, and change of address 246. Potential voters may register until 9 p.m. Wednesday and Thursday nights at the election commissioner's office in the Trust Building, 10th and O.

Gillett said a ticket plan will be used for persons showing up to register near the 5 p.m. Friday deadline. At exactly 5 p.m. tickets will be distributed—starting at the back of the line—to persons waiting to register. The office will remain open to accommodate those with tickets only.

Meanwhile, Deputy Election Commissioner B. E. (Pat) Boyles said Tuesday that their office has mailed out about 875 absentee ballots for the November general election.

Boyles said there are 1,000 absentee ballots on the books. The remainder of the ballots were voted at the election commissioner's office.

Legal Snag Kept Ike's Union Talk Off TV Screens

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Brotherhood of Carpenters and Joiners wished to televise President Eisenhower's address at the union's 75th anniversary dinner Tuesday night, the White House disclosed, but ran into a legal obstacle.

James C. Hagerty, White House press secretary, said the law forbids the purchase of political broadcast time by any group except those organized as political organizations, unless equal time is given to opposition candidates.

Thus, a network which gave time to the labor speech, even though the carpenters paid for it, would have been obliged to offer equal time to Democratic nominee Adlai Stevenson and perhaps the nominees of a dozen lesser parties, Weaver said.

Weaver noted the 50 year-old bridge had been washed down the creek once and put back.

The destroyed bridge has been replaced by a $21,800 structure, Weaver said.

Ike Holds Out Possible Economic Aid Offer To Polish People

... President Addresses Carpenters

By DOUGLAS B. CORNELL
WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower said Tuesday night that America has a mission to "expand the areas in which free men, free governments can flourish." He held out what could be an offer of economic aid to the Polish people in their struggle against Soviet domination.

The President said the United States must "help those freedom-loving peoples who need and want and can profitably use our aid..." In a speech before the Brotherhood of Carpenters and Joiners at their 75th anniversary dinner, the President used Poland as an example of a freedom-loving country rebelling against tyranny.

"A people, like the Poles, who have once known freedom cannot be always deprived of their national independence and of their personal liberty," he said.

Every People

"That truth applies to every people in Eastern Europe who have enjoyed independence and freedom."

Eisenhower spoke against a background of a bloodless revolt in Poland against Moscow domination, and demonstrations in Hungary against the Communist government there.

Eisenhower said that tyranny, for a time, can present a picture of material accomplishment. But, he said, that is an illusion that cannot substitute for true freedom of the people. He continued:

"Eventually, as in the satellites today, the cost proves greater to a once proud and independent people than the value of the monuments or factories — or prisons — that have been erected."

"In those lands, the fruits of imperialism are discontent, unrest, riots in one place and demonstrations in another, until the tyranny exercised over them either dissolves or is expelled."

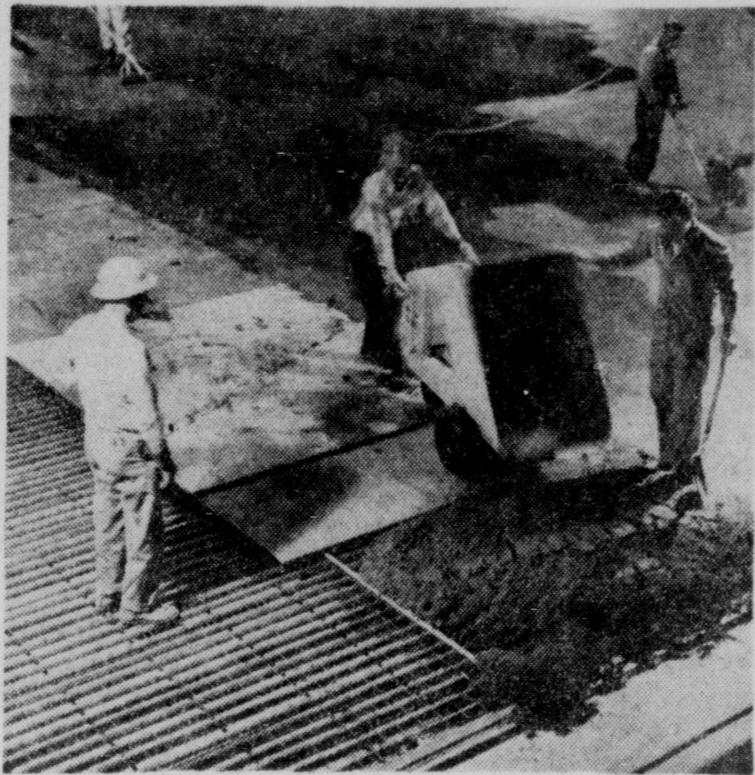

"The day of liberation may be postponed where armed forces for a time make protest suicidal."

"But all history testifies that the memory of freedom is not erased by the fear of guns and the love of freedom is more enduring than the power of tyrants. But it is necessary that the inspiration of freedom and the benefits enjoyed by those who possess it, are known to those oppressed."

Acceptance of $1,000 settlement for damages to a Lancaster County bridge near Walton has been approved by the County Board.

The Stevens Creek bridge 2½ miles northwest of Walton partially collapsed Oct. 29, 1955, under a 12-ton crushed-rock truck owned by Hauschild-Matthews, a Lincoln contracting firm, according to county officials. Co. Eng. L. W. Weaver said the bridge's posted capacity was five tons.

The county had claimed $3,500 damages but agreed to settle for $1,000 on the recommendation of Weaver and the county attorney's office.

No More Write-Offs

Virginia's Senator Harry Byrd has come by the nickname of "Wachdog of the Treasury" rightly. The Virginian has followed a course of extraordinary consistency in his battle for economy in federal expenditures. In his demands for economy it has made no difference on whose toes he tramped.

Nothing Byrd has undertaken, however, projects more merit than his proposal to the Office of Defense Mobilization to approve no more applications for tax amortization benefits until he has completed an investigation. In a letter to O.D.M. Director Arthur S. Fleming, Byrd said that he had informed that pending applications for tax amortization involve proposed new construction of plants totaling well over a billion dollars. "It is my opinion," Byrd said in his letter.

A Record In Sight

Lincoln and Lancaster County, it seems, need no special spur to stimulate interest and participation in the November 6 state and national elections.

The county election commissioner's office has made a satisfying report on the course of registration. With three days yet to go, registration stood at 55,180. That is against a practical top of 60,000 and it is but 655 short of 1953's record of 55,835. And it is at this stage only 309 short of 1952, the last presidential year.

State Above Party

Nebraska members of the National Farm Organization, meeting in Lincoln, warmly received former Nebraska Governor Adam McMullen and former Iowa Governor Dan Turner, and paid honor to the two prominent Republicans who

Of Men And Things

By J. E. LAWRENCE

As of October 12, a Washington dispatch indicates, Iowa received nearly three times as much soil bank money as the state next in line in total payments and more than four times as much as the third-ranking state. There may be a reason for that. Iowa at the top of the pile in corn production has a higher base for acres withdrawn from production than many of its neighboring states, including Nebraska. But Iowa also could be pegged more uncertain politically than Nebraska and some other Iowa neighbors.

In all good season, we assume, the soil bank payments will level themselves off. But as of the date of October 12, this Washington dispatch said, Iowa had received $20,714,412, compared with $7,652,242 for Texas, and $4,518,116 for South Dakota directly to the north. Nebraska, according to the dispatch, with $2,858,073, or 'only' an approximate half of what South Dakota had received, was one of eight states topping the $2 million mark. Nebraska, suffering one of its most destructive droughts, short of cash out on the farm, had received a seventh in soil bank payments of that received by opulent Iowa, invariably one-two-three when it comes to total farm income in the nation. And Nebraskans have collected about a third of the payments made to Texas farmers in an oil-rich state. Nineteen of the 48 states had collected less than $500,000 each in soil bank payments at the close of the first two weeks in October, and six states—Vermont, Maine, Connecticut, Nevada, New Hampshire and Rhode Island—had received nothing. At best, another year with its growing season will be required before any conclusions are to be drawn with respect to the effectiveness of the soil bank program in reducing production. In 1956 drought was the chief factor in cutting down yields. The soil bank program was only incidental to drought in reduced production.

When it comes to spending, Nebraskans are piker, and necessarily so. The San Francisco Chronicle late last week announced that during the coming fiscal year, California's highways and major city streets will be improved to the tune of $64,247,288 in state funds. That is three times Nebraska's budget for all purposes. They do things in a big way in California, it would seem. In 12 months Californians will spend slightly less than half a billion dollars upon their highways and major city streets. If it is true that highway building is the most effective approach to spreading jobs, then Californians have insured the future for at least another year.

Not too many years ago we sat down with paper and pencil to figure out Nebraska's expenditures for modern highways. At that time, near the close of the last decade—if memory serves us right, we had spent less than half a billion on roads since the modern highway program got under way 30 years earlier. Los Angeles County alone has more than two million cars registered, and at the same time collects one whale of a lot in gasoline tax funds. But recently under an agreement the state of California came into an estimated $120 million of oil royalties produced by Tidelands oil wealth in the Long Beach area. Where originally the plan had been to use these oil royalties for parks and highways and for some other purposes, the bulk of them apparently are going into highway construction. There is no denying that the big get bigger. Year-around warm sunshine in the Southland, at least, contributes to California's imperative needs for highways and for parks.

When we here in the Middle West, teeth chattering, shiver, Californians bask in warm mellow sunshine. There never seems to be an end to this job of road-building—witness California. It already had spent hundreds of millions for roads and its greatest budget for that purpose is still ahead.

Happy Birthday

The governor has ordained it, and the facts prove it, that the United Nations is 11 years old this week. No one can exactly wish it a happy birthday, because it is not a very happy world in that sphere where U.N. works, but we can all wish that estimable organization a long and successful life. We can also wish for the day when U.N. is declared of legal age, whenever that will be, so that it can take on more responsibilities.

ter, "that under present peace time conditions such special privilege (defense plant tax amortization benefits) can be justified only in exceptional, rare cases. Otherwise there is danger of creating unfair competition, over-expansion and damage to smaller business."

How right Senator Byrd is! We are at peace, or that at least is what we are being told every 24 hours—peace and prosperity. If that is the case then Senator Byrd has a point in saying that in only rare cases is there any justification now for granting tax write-offs running into the hundreds of millions of dollars. He by all means should institute an investigation to determine to what extent that tax write-off has been abused since the Korean peace, if at all.

A Record In Sight

It is reasonable to estimate that the city and county are on their way to a new record—something over 56,000.

There is advice for the eleventh hour voters who have yet to register. The commissioners' office will continue to remain open until 9 p.m. through Thursday night. Friday is the final day and the books will be closed at 5 p.m.

Those are good hours and dates to remember. As long as we are on our way to a record we may just as well make it a big one.

have walked out of their party over a difference in principle.

Both Turner and McMullen, veteran leaders of the depression and pre-depression days, wrote off their party whose farm policy, they believe, did cruel injury to the agricultural areas in the '20s and contributed to the national depression of the '30s. They see in its current attitudes no spirit of reform, but only a case of history being made to repeat itself.

It is hard to discount the intellectual integrity, the accurate memory and the abiding consistency of two veteran public leaders who have not always won their case for agricultural parity though never rejoicing when departures from it proved them right at the expense of the farmer. But it is not hard to award respect for men who will remain in the service of sound agriculture even to the extent of throwing away their own connections with a party with which they marched so many years.

Nebraska may take the advice of these two men. It may match them in putting neighbors and state above party. Again it may not choose to effect a matching act. But this much is certain. Both Mr. Turner and Mr. McMullen have again demonstrated a political integrity of the highest order and if it is a farewell to national politics it is an admirable one. Throughout the long years both have fought the good fight, far more often right than wrong, they have never shifted their position, and experience has dictated that there was no reason to. And they have kept the faith.

Be Careful

It is not quite all present and accounted for but there is definite evidence that 22 of the known 27 living whooping cranes are enjoying their annual layover in Nebraska on their way to winter quarters at the Arkansas Wildlife Refuge on the Texas gulf.

This is the time to be extra careful. The cranes are waging a touch and go fight against extinction despite the best of human efforts to preserve them. It would be a callous event and one that Nebraska would never be proud of if these visitors came upon bad days while passing through. And about the best advice to hunters is to refrain from firing at any unfamiliar bird, especially one with long legs. It is better to be safe than sorry.

Good Reminder

It was a timely reminder from the Nebraska State Civil Defense Office which cautioned hunters to be especially fire conscious this fall.

It has been a dry year and the countryside is especially subject to damage. Fire is a luxury Nebraska agriculture cannot afford at this juncture.

The advice can be well taken by everyone whether hunting bound or just burning off leaves. And it is a good time to remind Nebraska car drivers that there is a law against flipping lighted cigarettes out of car windows. States more habitually accustomed to dealing with dry climates practice strict enforcement of the ban. But Nebraskans are lax. This is an especially good time to get acquainted with the car's accessories. One of them is the ash receiver—a mighty fine place to hold cigarettes no longer wanted.

Humphrey's Company

Got Fat Contract

WASHINGTON—On January 13, 1953, just seven days before the Eisenhower administration took office, this column, in appraising the new cabinet, wrote of new secretary of the treasury George M. Humphrey:

"He has built up one of the biggest holding corporations of the nation. The M. A. Hanna company, which he heads, controls the biggest coal company in the world, steamship companies, steel mills, rayon factories, vast ore deposits, a sugar company, and one of the biggest banks in Cleveland. This background has the advantage of bringing great ability to government, but it also puts a cabinet member under constant fire for possible favors to his own fat-clan companies.

The new secretary of the Treasury told the senators in brief that he was not selling his stock in the M. A. Hanna company and its various subsidiaries. He said he had consulted and had been advised there would be no conflict with his work as secretary of the Treasury.

Three days before, on January 16, 1953, three days after the above-mentioned column was written, and four days before he became Eisenhower's No. 1 financial cabinet member, Humphrey concluded an important agreement with the government. Discreetly, Humphrey kept out of the negotiations and let his son, George W. Humphrey, sign for the Hanna interests.

Three days later, January 19, Humphrey testified before the Senate Finance Committee regarding his stock holdings. Sen. Harry Byrd of Virginia was wondered by the advice of these two men. It may match them in putting neighbors and state above party. Again it may not choose to effect a matching act. But this much is certain. ### Gomulka Tagged As Red Hot Red

NEW YORK — Lest we throw our hats too high in the air over the emergence of the Tito-Lawdy-Slawy Gomulka as the anti-Stalinist leader of Poland's Communist government, let it be remembered that he is redder than a herring and a sworn enemy of freedom everywhere—especially in Poland.

Stanislaw Mikolajczyk, the last free premier of Poland, is now in Paris at the International Peasant Union Congress. In his memoirs for King Features Syndicate and Whittlesey House, after his tense escape from Poland when the Communists took completely over, he gives a vivid vignette of Gomulka.

Free Poland was going down the drain at the time, despite the hearty assurances of Roosevelt, Churchill and Stalin that this could never happen. Mikolajczyk, virtually a house prisoner by then, marched to Gomulka's office. The plug-ugly was first deputy premier at the time, the strongman for such brains, so to speak, as Hilary Minc and Jakob Berman. The Polish peasant party which Mikolajczyk headed had just been gyped out of promised vice-ministers in the new government set-up.

"But, by God, you'll never BEAT Communism into us!" He leaped from his chair and charged me, his hand on the revolver in his pocket and the outline of his gun pointed at my chest. I sat there for there was nothing else to do, while he stood over me, twitching and speechless with rage.

"Give me a cigarette, please," I asked.

"After such a travesty of Democratic procedure I (Mikolajczyk) called on Gomulka and told him that I planned to take this to the people unless it stopped immediately.

"Don't you go too far with the

Scandal Color Illinois Races

CHICAGO—A political situation almost identical with 1948 has taken shape in Illinois.

In 1948 a "mess in Springfield" was charged to the then-Republican governor, Dwight Green, who was a candidate for re-election. It was too much for many Republicans and other powerful forces in the state, including the influential Chicago Daily News.

The Daily News endorsed a newcomer to politics, Democrat Adlai Stevenson, for governor. But it called for the election of Thomas E. Dewey for President and on the theory that Dewey should have a Republican Congress, swallowed hard and okayed the incumbent right-wing isolationist Republican senator, Everett M. Dirksen.

Certainly President Eisenhower as a candidate for re-election is stronger than was Dewey. Soundings of public opinion insist he will prevail.

But again Democrats are offering statewide candidates of unquestioned integrity—Judge Austin and State Senator Richard Stengel, who opposes Dirksen.

Austin is from Chicago and perhaps has greater appeal for the Cook County Democratic machine than Stevenson had. Stengel is a rugged downstater who is better known to downstate farmer and industrial voters.

When they awoke next day Stevenson was governor-elect with a majority of 572,000; Democrat Paul Douglas had triumphed over Brooks with a 440,000 majority, and between them Stevenson and Douglas had pulled through President Truman by 40,000.

This year the Daily News, which exposed the million-dollar plus thefts of GOP State Auditor Hodge, has denounced "the stinking mess" in Springfield and supports Judge Richard Austin, the Democratic opponent of GOP Governor William G. Stratton.

Again, the newspaper supports the Republican candidate for president, and again on the theory that he should have a Republican Congress has given something less ardent endorsement to the incumbent right-wing isolationist Republican senator, Wayland Brooks.

Many Republicans and independents felt this a proper solution and went to bed election night satisfied it would be the pattern for Illinois with its important 27 electoral votes.

When they awoke next day Stevenson was governor-elect with a majority of 572,000; Democrat Paul Douglas had triumphed over Brooks with a 440,000 majority, and between them Stevenson and Douglas had pulled through President Truman by 40,000.

This year the Daily News, which exposed the million-dollar plus thefts of GOP State Auditor Hodge, has denounced "the stinking mess" in Springfield and supports Judge Richard Austin, the Democratic opponent of GOP Governor William G. Stratton.

It may well be that President Eisenhower can readily rise above the troubles of the state administration. But Dirksen will have difficulty doing so, and no one denies that Stratton is fighting for his life.

Stevenson's chances rest on the fact that throw-the-rascals-out sweeps tend to have an all-out flavor to them. No one thought Mr. Truman would carry Illinois in 1948, and his margin was indeed narrow.

Before going to the polls, every voter should satisfy himself how well party platform pledges and campaign promises have been kept.

MARQUIS CHILDS

Ike May Save Illinois GOP

was little known, even in Illinois.

He was a newcomer to politics, a youngish reform candidate for governor running against a Republican regime reputed to be ridden with scandal. To almost everyone's surprise he got a majority of 572,000, the largest ever given a candidate for governor up to that time. And at the same time, Harry Truman, running for re-election, got a scant 33,000.

So Stevenson was launched on his political career. In 1952 as the Democratic presidential candidate, he made a profound impression on millions of Americans for the candor and good sense with which he discussed the issues. The powerful image was of a courageous leader rejecting the easy panaceas and small but important element in the American electorate.

That image has been blurred in this campaign. The compromises may have been necessary to get the nomination and to enlist the support of hardboiled political leaders from ward and precinct on up. But the best evidence that the change has not been altogether a happy one is in Stevenson himself. He obviously has not been at ease in his new role, making promises to the big blocs of farm and labor voters.

Many have looked, and still look, to Stevenson to lead the way to more imaginative, vigorous and constructive policies both at home and abroad. An example is John Nueveen, Chicago investment banker and life-long Republican.

Nueveen's experience in Europe in the Marshall plan from 1948 to '50 convinced him that the Truman administration had no long-range policy to win and hold Europe from Communism. We were putting in money to shore up the old structure, but we failed to understand the need to rush a complete remodeling job.

Nueveen came back to Chicago as one of the first Eisenhower-for-President backers and later became treasurer of the volunteers for Eisenhower.

Humphrey's Company Got Fat Contract

WASHINGTON—On January 13, 1953, just seven days before the Eisenhower administration took office, this column, in appraising the new cabinet, wrote of new secretary of the treasury George M. Humphrey:

"He has built up one of the bigger holding corporations of the nation. The M. A. The new secretary of the Treasury told the senators in brief that he was not selling his stock in the M. A. Hanna company and its various subsidiaries. He said he had consulted and had been advised there would be no conflict with his work as secretary of the Treasury.

Three days before, on January 16, 1953, Humphrey's son had signed three contracts with the government for the production of nickel, then desperately short as a result of the Korean war. Nickel was needed for jet planes, and the Hanna company had acquired important low-grade nickel deposits in Douglas County, Oregon, on the development of which it had been given a tax write-off of 85 per cent on $22,000,000 just three weeks before Humphrey became secretary of the treasury.

This column, however, did not give the entire story, and investigators for Congressman Jack Brooks, the tough Texan now probing Chairman Len Hall, have dug up the rest of it. It may bear out the prediction of embarrassment.

The contract was signed by Humphrey's son with the General Services Administration, and congressional investigators have been trying to ascertain some of the facts surrounding the deal which don't appear on paper.

Jess Larson, a Truman appointee, was head of General Services. When representatives questioned Larson he explained that the government was desperately in need of nickel and there was no other nickel available in the United States, except Humphrey's. Nickel was being imported from abroad, and in case of an expanded war it might be difficult to get.

Gomulka Tagged As Red Hot Red

NEW YORK—Lest we throw our hats too high in the air over the emergence of the Titoist Wladyslaw Gomulka as the anti-Stalinist leader of Poland's Communist government, let it be remembered that he is redder than a herring and a sworn enemy of freedom everywhere—especially in Poland.

Stanislaw Mikolajczyk, the last free premier of Poland, is now in Paris at the International Peasant Union Congress. In his memoirs for King Features Syndicate and Whittlesey House, after his tense escape from Poland when the Communists took completely over, he gives a vivid vignette of Gomulka.

Free Poland was going down the drain at the time, despite the hearty assurances of Roosevelt, Churchill and Stalin that this could never happen. Mikolajczyk, virtually a house prisoner by then, marched to Gomulka's office. The plug-ugly was first deputy premier at the time, the strongman man for such brains, so to speak, as Hillary Mine and Jakob Berman. The Polish peasant party which Mikolajczyk headed had just been gyped out of promised vice-ministers in the new government set-up.

I quote:

"After such a travesty of Democratic procedure I (Mikolajczyk) called on Gomulka and told him that I planned to take this to the people unless it stopped immediately.

Scandals Color Illinois Races

CHICAGO—A political situation almost identical with 1948 has taken shape in Illinois.

In 1948 a "mess" in Springfield was charged to the then-Republcan governor, Dwight Green, who was a candidate for re-election. It was too much for many Republicans and other powerful forces in the state, including the influential Chicago Daily News.

The Daily News endorsed a newcomer to politics, Democrat Adlai Stevenson, for governor. But it called for the election of Thomas E. Dewey for President and on the theory that Dewey should have a Republican Congress, swallowed hard and okayed the incumbent right-wing isolationist Republican senator, Everett M. Dirksen.

Certainly President Eisenhower as a candidate for re-election is stronger than was Dewey. Soundings of public opinion insist he will prevail.

But again Democrats are offering statewide candidates of unquestioned integrity—Judge Austin and State Senator Richard Stengel who opposes Dirksen.

Austin is from Chicago and perhaps has greater appeal for the Cook County Democratic machine than Stevenson had. Stengel is a rugged downstater who is better known to downstate farmer and industrial areas than was Douglas

When they awoke next day Stevenson was governor-elect with a majority of 572,000; Democrat Paul Douglas had triumphed over Brooks with a 44,000 majority, and between them Stevenson and Douglas had pulled through President Truman by 40,000.

This year the Daily News, which exposed the million-dollar-plus thefts of GOP State Auditor Hodge, has denounced "the stinking mess" in Springfield and supports Judge Richard Austin, the Democratic opponent of GOP Governor William G. Stratton.

Ike May Save Illinois GOP

CHICAGO—The point has been reached in this strange campaign when the Eisenhower magic is being described by some of the President's more ardent admirers with an almost mystical fervor.

If that magic is sufficiently strong, it will pull into office for a second term in the Senate Everett McKinley Dirksen, who has been one of the most consistent advocates of the Bricker amendment curbing the President's treaty making powers. If it is really as potent as some of his disciples assume, then it will obscure the scandals of the Republican regime in Illinois and Governor William Stratton also will be re-elected.

There is nothing really mysterious about the Eisenhower magic. It is the magic of a warmly persuasive personality packaged with the great skill and energy of modern publicity and advertising techniques.

The symbol thus projected—the good and kindly man who wants all Americans to be happy, the husband, father, grandfather—has been made to dominate the political horizon.

For the purpose of the campaign, it probably matters little. But as with so many high-powered packaging jobs, the content—in this instance the relationship between issues and achievements of an administration in power for four years—seems small when put alongside the fabulous claims made for it.

With all the bing-bang-bang of the television drama and those beautiful pictures on the box, the breakfast food seems to fall short of making us strong, self-reliant and handsome.

It may be because this is Adlai Stevenson's home state that the discrepancy between promise and reality in the campaign, on both the Republican and Democratic sides, should be most apparent. Only eight years ago Stevenson was little known, even in Illinois.

He was a newcomer to politics, a youngish reform candidate for governor running against a Republican regime reputed to be ridden with scandal. To almost everyone's surprise he got a majority of 572,000, the largest ever given a candidate for governor up to that time. And at the same time, Harry Truman, running for re-election, got a scant 33,000.

So Stevenson was launched on his political career. In 1952 as the Democratic presidential candidate, he made a profound impression on millions of Americans for the candidate and good sense with which he discussed the issues. The powerful image was of a courageous leader rejecting the easy panaceas and the cheap compromises.

That image has been blurred in this campaign. The compromises may have been necessary to get the nomination and to enlist the support of hardboiled political leaders from ward and precinct on up. But the best evidence that the change has not been altogether a happy one is in Stevenson himself. He obviously has not been at ease in his new role, making promises to the big blocs of farm and labor voters.

Many have looked, and still look, to Stevenson to lead the way to more imaginative, vigorous and constructive policies both at home and abroad. An example is John Nuveen, Chicago investment banker and life-long Republican.

Nuveen's experience in Europe in the Marshall plan from 1948 to '50 convinced him that the Truman administration had no long-range policy to win and hold Europe from Communism. We were putting in money to shore up the old structure, but we failed to understand the need to rush a basic remodeling job.

Nuveen came back to Chicago as one of the first Eisenhower-for-President backers and later became treasurer of the volunteers for Eisenhower.

At the start of this campaign he came out for Stevenson, saying in a strong statement he believed the President had defaulted on his foreign policy promises, putting old-fashioned isolationists in charge of programs in which they did not believe.

Nuveen is disappointed in Stevenson's performance this time, but he hopes that if he is elected he will supply the kind of direction the United States must have if the free world is to stay strong and united. You may write him off as naive, idealistic, or, as the Chicago Tribune does, as a New Dealer. Nevertheless, Nuveen represents a small but important element in the American electorate.

In his speech in Cincinnati last week Stevenson talked about foreign policy and the urgent and demanding needs of the hour. For many reasons this speech got little attention. But those who heard it recognized the kind of dedication Stevenson brought to his campaign four years ago.

If certain principals in the Stevenson camp have their way, this is the note that will be sounded from now until the end.

The draft and the H-bomb tests have been issues at the edge of the central problems of foreign policy. Now Stevenson is to go to the heart of the matter. But if this is to be a major shift in the direction of the campaign, it must be remembered that it is very late. What has gone before has set the tone.

What the President promises is not so much a promise put in words. It is an implied promise that if only you trust this great and good man, the next four years of your life will be even better than the best four years of your life. Before this smiling symbol, promises put into words seem to have little weight.

Full-Time Job

Lincoln, Neb.

To the editor of The Lincoln Star: I call the following "The Celestial Candidate"—or, "Personality For Sale":

Now Eisenhower, the glamour boy, that smile upon his face,

Comes down from Mount Olympus to rejoin the human race.

Less part-time campaign efforts prove too little and too late.

The "Part-Time President" is now the "Full-Time Candidate."

Until November sixth has passed he'll be the common man.

And sell his personality to everyone he can.

He'll show his winsome visage in the eight-and-forty states.

(That genial smile will vanish if you mention Dixon-Yates.)

He'll promise to improve the lot of all of those who toll.

He'll press the soft-soil pedal if you speak of Tideland Oil.

And please do not remind him of Hells Canyon—Idaho Power.

If you would have the blessing of Dwight David Eisenhower.

He'll read his Nixon-written speech while standing at the "Mike."

And when the polling places have disclosed the final count.

And in celestial solitude regard the common man,

And hold the job he's fitted for—the

"Full-Time Also-Ran."

The Arms Race

Syracuse, N. Y.

To the editor of The Lincoln Star: Russia must be laughing up its sleeve at Adlai Stevenson's proposal to end the draft and to have the United States take the lead in banning H-bomb tests in the belief that the Kremlin will also renounce them, for nothing would please Russia more than to have us weaken our national defense.

The United States has tried again and again and will keep on trying to have the atomic and hydrogen bombs placed under international inspection to guarantee that Russia wouldn't secretly continue its own tests, but Russia has not agreed to this plan and has given every indication that it will not agree in the near future. Also, in spite of the postwar weapons revolution, military manpower will still be needed by our armed forces, as was evidenced by the Korean war.

It is the earnest hope of thoughtful citizens that some day we will be able to stop the mad armament race and disarm, but as long as there is a country which seeks eventual control of the entire world, we must remain strong militarily as well as economically.

Mailing Of Lancaster County Soil Bank Drafts Starts Thursday

By BETTY PERSON
Star Staff Writer

The Lancaster County Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation office will start mailing some 1,200 soil-bank drafts Thursday to farmers in the county who signed up for the 1956 corn acreage reserve program.

County ASC officials said it would take about one week to mail out all of the drafts which, it was reported, would average about $250 each, although some "would vary and awfully lot."

While no final tabulation was available, it was estimated Lancaster County 1956 corn soil-bank payments would be in the neighborhood of $300,000.

Revised Downward

It was estimated at sign up time that about 1,500 applications had been filed, but the County ASC office said this figure was revised downward when the applications were checked.

Meanwhile, State ASC Director Robert Webb had some comments to make about reports that soil-bank payments were being held up for political reasons.

"Our sides are trying to inject a political angle in this business when that has been the furthest thing from our minds in getting this job done," Webb stated.

"Knowing the conditions that exist because of the continued drought and how hard-pressed many farmers are for money, it has been the policy of the State ASC Committee to get these payments out as fast as is humanly possible," he declared.

Three things are responsible for the delay in issuing the payments, Webb said. First was the problem of processing the corn acreage reserve applications to determine compliance—and in those counties where as high as nearly 2,000 applications were filed it was quite a job."

"Some of the counties in the western part of the state which had only 20 some applications were able to complete their work in just a few days," the director commented.

He said this explains why some counties have been able to issue their drafts while others are still working to get them out.

The second problem arose, Webb said, when county ASC offices were busy signing up farmers for the 1957 wheat soil-bank program.

"We didn't want to turn anyone away," Webb explained, "and the applications were so heavy in some counties that officials could only take their names, the number of acres they wanted to sign up, and have them come in the following week to complete their applications."

On top of this, he added, came Secretary Benson's designation of 28 Nebraska counties as drought-disaster areas making them eligible to participate in the emergency feed program "and officials in those counties had to process applications for this program as well."

'Heaviest Work Load'

"Frankly, ASC offices have been involved in one of the heaviest work loads in the history of our organization. A lot of people have been working long hours overtime, but there's a limit to human endurance and there are only 24 hours in a day," he commented.

Although the State ASC office has no exact record of which counties have or have not mailed out

Chest Drive Now Stands At 3/4 Mark

The United Campaign of the Lincoln Community Chest and Red Cross reached 75 per cent of its goal of $329,821 Tuesday with an additional $26,915 reported for a grand total of $355,736.

Partial reports including Tuesday's amount, total to date, and percentage of goal are:

Advance gifts, $12,934, $266,074, 80 per cent; industrial and automobile employees, $3,165, $47,912, 67 per cent; business and professional employees, $3,180, $47,357, 68 per cent; public departments, $3,351, $39,304, 57 per cent; and women's division, $474,00, $12,517, 78 per cent.

Foods and services employees lead the divisions with 83 per cent of their goal completed. Tuesday's report was $3,751 for a total to date of $21,839.

Deanna Vensaw of Northeast High School and Dr. R. L. Fredstrom, assistant superintendent of the Lincoln Public Schools, submitted a report of $1,536 from the school children.

Five section collectors received Oscars as their units of employee donors reached their goals. They were R. K. Gormley and Lambert Etel, telephone and telegraph; Walton G. Ferris manufacturers' regiment A; R. K. Alloway, bottling companies; and Robert Bayless, barbers.

Francis Parish became the first Lt. General to receive an Oscar when the groceries section achieved its goal.

Disaster Area Designation Asked

Federal designation of Lancaster County as a major crop disaster area was being sought Tuesday by the county commissioners.

The county board is forwarding to Gov. Victor Anderson a resolution calling for such designation so that the county can qualify for the federal emergency grain-feed program.

Action was taken following the appearance of a three-man delegation headed by James Doolittle, chairman of the county soil conservation district.

The county resolution cites the "protracted lack of rainfall" and "crop failures" in the county.

The board said supporting data would come from A. E. Anderson, federal-state crop statistician.

The county request with endorsements by the governor would be forwarded to President Eisenhower, the board said.

Mrs. Weil Estate Set Over $70,000

The estate of Mrs. Lilly Bell Weil is in excess of $70,000, according to an inventory filed in Lancaster County Court.

Mrs. Weil, widow of Carl Weil, a former vice president of the National Bank of Commerce, died March 23 in Lincoln.

Her estate includes 2,004 common shares in the National Bank of Commerce and 1,176 shares in the Texas Co.

Other personal holdings included $55,025 in bonds, a $1,302.06 savings account, an $11,973.72 joint checking account, and a $3,500 promissory note.

U.S. STANDS READY TO AID POLAND

By JOHN SCALI

WASHINGTON — The United States began an intensive survey of Poland's economic condition Tuesday but publicly maintained a hands-off attitude toward Polish leaders' efforts to assert their independence of Moscow.

Top State Department officials, participating in a Polish appeal for American economic aid, began examining kinds of assistance which might be available in view of Poland's needs.

Tentative estimates were that food and clothing, especially for hard-pressed city dwellers, seemed to be most urgently required in Poland at present.

To avoid any accusation of interference, officials decided any such American aid should not be volunteered but only given if and when the revamped Polish regime formally asks for it.

Several diplomatic hints that such a request may be forthcoming have been picked up by U. S. officials the past week of swift-breaking developments in Poland.

Mailing Of Lancaster County Soil Bank Drafts Starts Thursday

The Lancaster County Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation office will start mailing some 1,200 soil-band drafts Thursday to farmers in the county who signed up for the 1956 corn acreage reserve program.

County ASC officials said it would take about one week to mail out all of the drafts which, it was reported, would average about $250 each, although some "would vary and awfully lot."

Although the State ASC office has no exact record of which counties have or have not mailed out their drafts, Webb said he anticipated nearly all of them would be out before the election."

He explained there is no reporting procedure established between county and state ASC offices because the counties report directly to the Commodity Credit Corporation office at Kansas City on which the drafts are drawn.

Kansas City in turn reports to Washington, Webb said, and Washington then releases the figures on a national level.

"The federal government's total obligation in Nebraska for the corn soil-band program is nearly $34,000,000," the ASC official said, "and we anticipate the final payments will total about that amount."

"Some revisions have been made downward after checking applications, but largely it will be about the same, he concluded.

NEBRASKA CITY, Neb. — Masonic lodge dignitaries from Nebraska, Iowa, and Missouri gathered here Tuesday to observe the 100th anniversary of the Nebraska City Lodge, Western Star Lodge 2. A centennial parade, featuring high school bands, Shriners from Lincoln and Omaha and Knights Templar, opened festivities Tuesday afternoon.

Marie Hale of Lincoln, grand master of the Nebraska Lodge, dedicated a memorial plaque in honor of pioneer Masons of Nebraska who founded the lodge. The plaque was placed at the site of the original location of the Nebraska City Lodge.

Dr. George W. Rosenlof of the University of Nebraska spoke at the centennial banquet Tuesday night. State Senator John E. Beaven of Denver, grand senior warden, served as master of ceremonies. Raymond C. Cook of Omaha, grand custodian, gave a historical account of the Masonic degrees.

Presenting a history of Masonry in Nebraska was Harold Thom of Omaha, grand historian.

The Nebraska City Lodge is the oldest continuous lodge in Nebraska. Frances Cole is worshipful master of the lodge.

He called Eisenhower's Number One hope for America an opportunity to serve another four years "to contribute to a lasting peace."

He said he wondered what manner of man Stevenson was to make demands in a five-day period for an end to H-bomb tests and an end to Selective service.

"Unwittingly through a lack of facts he contributes nothing to the nation's security and international standing."

Jacob Schaffer, Lincoln Resident 64 Years, Dies

Jacob Schaffer, 72, of 3825 So. 20th, died Tuesday.

A retired grocery clerk, he had lived in Lincoln 64 years. He was a member of the Welfare Society and Salem Congregational Church.

Surviving are his wife, Christine; daughters, Mrs. Janette Nelson of Phoenix, Ariz., and Mrs. Gertrude Brown of Nebraska City, Neb.; brother, P. H. Seberg of Cedar Bluffs, Neb.; and four grandchildren.

Mr. Schaffer died Tuesday.

Mrs. Pauline Greenwald, Mrs. George Jacobs, Mrs. John Rohn Jr., Mrs. Robert Thurston, all of Lincoln; Mrs. Richard Dies of New Carlisle, Ind.; brothers, Henry of Lincoln, John of Oshkosh, Wis.; sisters, Mrs. Andrew Kaltenberger of Lincoln and Mrs. George Krumm of Sterling, Colo.; 26 grandchildren; four great-grandchildren.

The Panama Conference of Presidents;

The Caracas meeting at which a new Monroe Doctrine was formulated — where the Americans agreed that an attack on one of us shall be construed as an attack on all of us.

The SEATO Agreement. Recent trouble in Poland, Hungary and Romania, examples of unrest behind the iron curtain, resulting from pressures of Dulles-Eisenhower foreign policy.

Seaton said these peace moves overlooked by Stevenson have been to the 11-nation body.

Mr. Schaffer

In both his speech at Hastings and the one here, Seaton said he wanted to "straighten out" charges by Democrats against the bureau of reclamation, about corruption in the administration, no action toward peace and on the subject of the H-bomb and selection service.

Seaton said an average of 170 million dollars annually has been invested in reclamation planning and construction, largest amount in history, during the last four years.

He said the record will show not one but 34 new reclamation projects started during the past four years.

After Democratic Presidential nominee Adlai Stevenson Monday night charged for the fifth time that under Eisenhower America has made no steps toward Peace, Seaton asked: "Where has Stevenson been?" He said he wondered how Stevenson could overlook:

Consummation of the treaty of Trieste;

Admission of West Germany to NATO;

Ousting of Russian Communists from control of Guatemala;

The Panama Conference of Presidents;

The Caracas meeting at which a new Monroe Doctrine was formulated — where the Americans agreed that an attack on one of us shall be construed as an attack on all of us.

POSTCARD

Well, Indian Summer is again upon us, I have been doing a little thinking about the Indians and other vanishing races. It has been a sobering experience.

Take 1930. In 1930, there were 102.5 males to every 100 females in the U.S.

Statistically, this means if every gentleman on a streetcar got up and gave his seat to a lady, two gents could sit down again. And one more could half sit down.

What I mean, there was a slight surplus on the stag line. And every chick could go out and powder her nose and not have to fight to get her man back when she returned.

By 1950, the number of males had been reduced to 98.6 per 100 females.

One day the ladies woke up and declared:

"For goodness sake, where have all the men gone to?" (That is what they declared in the North. In the South, they declared: "Where have all the men gone to, I declare?")

Well, where all the men had gone to, if you ask me, was to their reward. They had gone like the Indian and the buffalo. They had been scragged by trigger-happy females.

The way ladies use up gentlemen is really amazing. Hardly a day goes by but what the journals report how some loving doll has whipped out the lady-from-Bristol and — root-te-toot-toot, down go the statistics.

The game laws are very minor in these cases.

"I plugged him because I loved him so," says the lady.

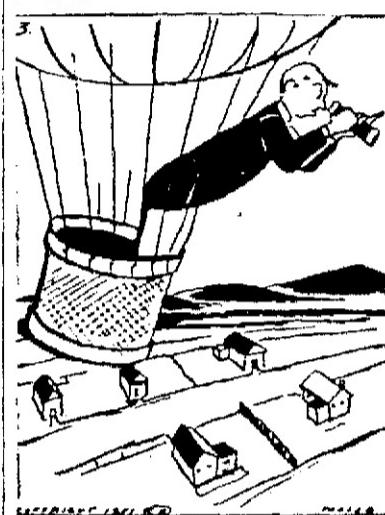

Judges are an easy-going lot. And if the Judge feels soft that day, he often turns the lady loose without even confiscating her pistol.

A great many Judges have never heard a shot fired in love. And therefore are poor judges of the situation. If these cases were tried by survivors, it would be a different story.

I expect the 98.6 gentlemen still taking dancing lessons are a pretty lively crowd.

Modern man has to be sure-footed just to get around in traffic. And ducking hard bullets is an added handicap. I think that is why so many shooting stories break for the morning papers.

POSTCARD

Well, Indian Summer is again upon us, I have been doing a little thinking about the Indians and other vanishing races. It has been a sobering experience.

Take 1930. In 1930, there were 102.5 males to every 100 females in the U. S.

Statistically, this means if every gentleman on a streetcar got up and gave his seat to a lady, two gents could sit down again. And one more could half sit down.

What I mean, there was a slight surplus on the stag line. And every chick could go out and powder her nose and not have to fight to get her man back when she returned.

By 1950, the number of males had been reduced to 98.6 per 100 cupcakes.

One day the ladies woke up and declared:

"For goodness sake, where have all the men gone to?" (That is what they declared in the North. In the South, they declared: "Where have all the men gone to, I declare?")

Well, where all the men had gone to, if you ask me, was to their reward. They had gone like the Indian and the buffalo. They had been scragged by trigger-happy females.

The way ladies use up gentlemen is really amazing. Hardly a day goes by but what the journals report how some loving doll has whipped out the lady-from-Bristol and — root-te-toot-toot, down go the statistics.

The game laws are very minor in these cases.

"I plugged him because I loved him so," says the lady.

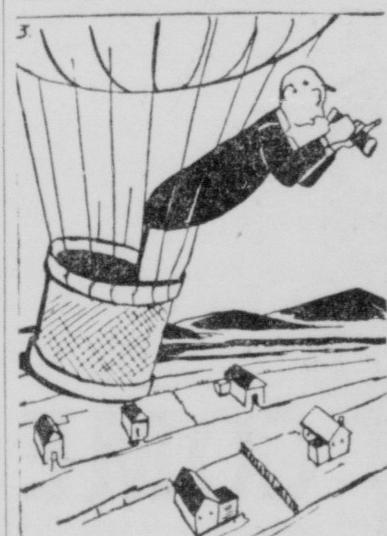

Judges are an easy-going lot. And if the Judge feels soft that day, he often turns the lady loose without even confiscating her pistol.

A great many Judges have never heard a shot fired in love. And therefore are poor judges of the situation. If these cases were tried by survivors, it would be a different story.

I expect the 98.6 gentlemen still taking dancing lessons are a pretty lively crowd.

Modern man has to be sure-footed just to get around in traffic. And ducking hard bullets is an added handicap. I think that is why so many shooting stories break for the morning papers.

City Charter Revision:

Authority To Issue Bonds Without Election Urged

By BILL DOBLER
Star Staff Writer

Authority in the charter for the City Council to issue revenue bonds without a vote of the people was urged at the first public hearings held by the Charter Revision Committee.

The suggestion was made by O. J. Ferguson, former dean of the University of Nebraska engineering college and member of the now disbanded Water Advisory Board.

Such authority was an evident need a number of years ago, he said, and is even more evident now. The water shortage of three years ago, he said, could have been averted had such authority been in the charter.

No Clear Path

Studies had been made at that time, Ferguson said, which pointed out the shortage that was sure to come. However, he said, there was no clear path of action to be taken to avert the shortage.

The city has always been conservative, Ferguson said, and the City Council would not go out on a limb with bond issues in excess of financial needs.

The former dean also approved of a utilities board with its actions subject to review by the City Council.

The Committee also heard Mrs. Eunice Peterson advocate employment of a full-time mayor with a regular salary.

She argued that the affairs of the city now demand the full-time attention of the mayor.

Mrs. Peterson said she was attending the meeting for information purposes as a member of the League of Women Voters. The opinions she expressed were her own, she said, not those of the League.

HINTS COLLECTED BY
Mrs. Dan Gerber
(MOTHER OF 3)

Mothers with babies frequently write me to ask what their children are losing interest in food. In some cases an appetite lag may be caused by teething. But with most babies it's due to a slow-down in the rate of growth, and a natural variation in the desire for food. If your little one is going through a "pick" period it's helpful to remember that when baby is hungry enough, he'll let you know soon enough. Rotating colors and kinds of food helps. Service with a smile (instead of a frown) often works wonders. New dishes also spur appetite interest.

Closed issue. When you wash baby's zipped togs, it helps to close the zippers before dunking. Saves zippers from getting bent—keeps garments in better shape.

More that's new! Toddlers dearly love "grown up" foods and here's a new main dish with a real grown-up quality. Gerber Junior Beef and Noodles with Vegetables is a happy and flavorful combination of lean beef, tender egg noodles and carrot morsels for good protein content and high vitamin A value.

meeting were the Bethany Businessmen's Association and the Bethany Lions Club.

A charter provision providing for a more direct line of communication between the City Council and the Planning Commission was suggested by City Planning Engineer Douglas Brogden.

"Provisions Lax"

Brogden also reported that the charter as it now exists makes no provision for planning and is lax on provisions for zoning and land subdivision. He further suggested that decisions of the Board of Adjustment could be made final and thus eliminate some work for the City Council.

All Board actions are now reviewed and given final disposal by the Council.

The charter, he said, might also have a provision in it for mandatory referral to the Planning Commission of any issues or subjects which have an effect upon the comprehensive city plan.

The Committee was advised by Walter Valls that it was proceeding too fast with its work. The public will not be able to digest a new charter in the time allowed for it, he said.

The Committee hopes to complete its work before Christmas with the charter revisions to be voted upon in the primary or general election of 1957.

Opposition

Attorney Leo Bartunek told the Committee that he opposed the hiring of outside expert advice to assist in the drafting of a new charter. He also opposed any increase in the powers of the mayor.

The Committee was advised by William Niklaus not to remove from the charter a provision which forbids any officer of the city from having a direct or indirect interest in any contract to which the city is a party.

The Committee's public hearings will move into the suburbs this week and next. The next hearings will be at a meeting at 4 p.m. in the City Hall this Thursday.

At 7:30 p.m. this Thursday the Committee will hold hearings in the northwest part of the city at a location yet to be announced.

A week from this Thursday, Nov. 1, the Committee will hold hearings in northeast Lincoln at 4 p.m. and in College View at 7:30 p.m.

HammarSKJOLD is the most eligible bachelor in New York, but he keeps himself to himself. He goes bareheaded all the year round, wears ready-made blue or grey lounge suits, lowers and bright bow ties. When he works he smokes a pipe; when he chats, a little cigar. He eats lightly and enjoys red wine.

Dag HammarSKJOLD's sense of mission derives from two opposing forces that seem forever to be driving him on. HammarSKJOLD, by his own reading of himself is simultaneously a mystic and a materialist, a romantic and a realist. As a student he was deeply influenced by the negative philosophy of Axel Hagerstrom who taught that metaphysics is dishonest and only matter real. The influence lingers when HammarSKJOLD is talking buses; he is as hard as stone. Yet the "Gier le flater," as an old friend calls HammarSKJOLD, writes intense romantic lyrics and goes roaming through the Lapland mountains in search of a mystic ideal. In men, such a dichotomy could lead to complications. But HammarSKJOLD's mind seems to have found a satisfactory synthesis. His philosophy is complex but basic rule is clear: "self-surrender is an ideal which can be made reality through faith and material hard work.

Ideal or Reality? The U.N. is such an ideal, corresponding to a need in all humanity. But can it be real reality while men are men, and nations? The world is not yet ready, may never be, for a world government. It does need multilateral diplomacy. The mere existence of the U.N. somehow makes a settlement possible because nations will not yield an inch when their next-door neighbor will beat them more gracefully in response to an appeal before the bar of world opinion. History's verdict on the U.N. is still the jury box. But Dag HammarSKJOLD doesn't know what it will be. "The U.N. is just a product of do-gooders," he says. "It is harshly real." He once told a viewer: "The day will come when you will see the U.N. and what it means. Everything will be all right when? When people just stop thinking of the United Nations as Picasso abstraction, and start making them themselves."

No. 5 in a Series
Cities of the Northern Plains

THE SLENDER, GRACEFUL spire of the Nebraska State Capitol, topped by its symbolic bronze figure of The Sower, dominates the city of Lincoln and the gently rolling farmlands that surround it...just as agriculture dominates the business and industry of both this capital city and its state.

Yet Lincoln is more than an agricultural center. In addition to feeds for livestock and foods for human consumption, Lincoln's skilled workers make watches, telephone equipment, industrial beltings, motor scooters and many other products. Lincoln is the home of the Strategic Air Command's Lincoln Air Force Base, with more than 6,000 men...the University of Nebraska with over 7,000 students. And each weekday, shoppers come by the thousands to stroll Lincoln's wide streets and buy in its inviting shops.

Lincoln's wholesale trade area encompasses all of Nebraska, plus portions of Kansas, Colorado, Wyoming and South Dakota. Its retail trading zone stretches for 50 miles in each direction—one of America's rich agricultural areas.

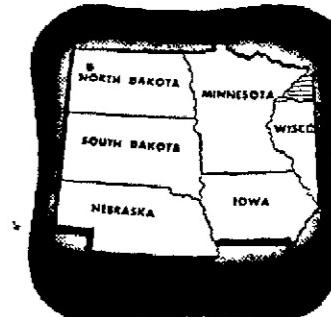

The city has many advantages: 5 railroads, truck, bus lines, a fine air terminal...ample water supply...both skilled and unskilled labor in quantities sufficient to meet all ordinary requirements, plus a surrounding agricultural area which can supply additional labor...excellent industrial sites, with rail facilities, utilities and other essentials...abundant natural gas, brought to the city by Northern Natural Gas Company and distributed locally by Central Electric & Gas Company. ## Northern Natural Gas Company Tells The Lincoln Story

In a full-page, full-color advertisement in the current issue of Time, Northern Natural Gas Company tells the Lincoln Story.

The future growth and development of Northern Natural Gas Company depends, to a major extent, upon the industrial growth and development of the Northern Plains area.

By publishing this advertisement, and others like it, Northern Natural Gas Company hopes to attract new business and new industry to Lincoln and other cities of the Northern Plains.

The issue of Time containing this advertisement will be read by more than three million people...over 40%

of all the business executives in the entire U.S.*

Northern Natural Gas Company believes that this advertisement will bring Lincoln to the attention of these readers...will induce many of them to visit Lincoln...may lead eventually to the establishment of branch offices, manufacturing plants or other businesses in this city. His household consists of a Swedish butler, a Swedish housekeeper, a Norwegian secretary and an American chauffeur who drives him to the U.N. building five days a week and to his 80-acre estate in New York State on weekends. Hammarkjold is the most eligible bachelor in New York, but he keeps himself to himself. He goes bare-headed all the year round, wears ready-made blue or grey lounge suits, loosened and bright bow ties. When he works he smokes a pipe; when he chats, a little cigar. He eats lightly and enjoys red wine.

Dag Hammarkjold's sense of mission derives from two opposing forces that seem forever to be driving him on. Hammarkjold, by his own reading of himself, is simultaneously a mystic and a materialist, a romantic and a realist. As a student, he was deeply influenced by the neoplatonic philosophy of Axel Hagerstrom. He taught that metaphysics is dishonest and only matter real. The influence lessens when Hammarkjold is talking business; he is as hard as stone. Yet the "Great Flatter," as an old friend calls Hammarkjold, writes intense romantic lyrics and goes roaming through the Lapland mountains in search of a mystic ideal. In the men, such a dichotomy could lead to complications. But Hammarkjold's mind seems to have found a satisfactory synthesis. His philosophy is complex but its basic rule is clear: "self-surrender" to an ideal which can be made reality through faith and material hard work.

Ideal or Reality? The U.N. is such an ideal, corresponding to a need in all humanity. But can it be real reality while men are men, and nations? The world is not yet ready... may never be, for a world government does need multilateral diplomacy. The mere existence of the U.N. sometimes makes a settlement possible because nations that will not yield an inch before their next-door neighbor will beat a more gracefully in response to an appeal from the U.N. It gives the Commonwealth a soapbox, but it also provides small nations with a useful forum for world debate; at its best, it gives everyone a chance to appeal before the bar of world opinion. History's verdict on the U.N. is still in the jury box. But Dag Hammarkjold is confident what it will be. "The U.N. is just a product of do-gooders," he says. "It is harshly real." He once told a reviewer: "The day will come when we will see the U.N. and what it means. Everything will be all right then. When people just stop thinking of the United Nations as a Picasso abstraction, and see what they made themselves."

This Is Lincoln

No. 5 in a Series
Cities of the Northern Plains

THE SLENDER, GRACEFUL spire of the Nebraska State Capitol, topped by its symbolic bronze figure of The Sower, dominates the city of Lincoln and the gently rolling farmlands that surround it... just as agriculture dominates the business and industry of both this capital city and its state. Yet Lincoln is more than an agricultural center. In addition to feeds for livestock and foods for human consumption, Lincoln's skilled workers make watches, telephone equipment, industrial beltings, motor scooters and many other products. Lincoln is the home of the Strategic Air Command's Lincoln Air Force Base, with more than 6,000 men... the University of Nebraska with over 7,000 students. And each weekday, shoppers come by the thousands to stroll Lincoln's wide streets and buy in its inviting shops.

Lincoln's wholesale trade area encompasses all of Nebraska, plus portions of Kansas, Colorado, Wyoming and South Dakota. Its retail trading zone stretches for 50 miles in each direction—one of America's rich agricultural areas.

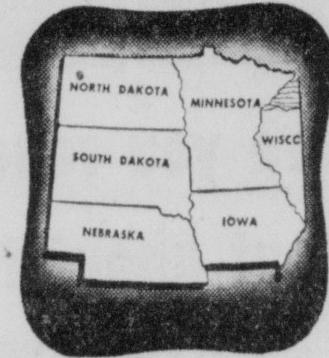

The city has many advantages: 5 railroads, truck, bus lines, a fine air terminal... ample water supply... both skilled and unskilled labor in quantities sufficient to meet all ordinary requirements, plus a surrounding agricultural area which can supply additional labor... excellent industrial sites, with rail facilities, utilities and other essentials... abundant natural gas, brought to the city by Northern Natural Gas Company and distributed locally by Central Electric & Gas Company. If you are planning to relocate your business or establish a new plant, consider Lincoln. For more information, write Central Electric & Gas Company, Lincoln, Nebraska, or The Area Development Dept., Northern Natural Gas Company, Omaha, Nebraska.

Serving the Northern Plains States: Minnesota, Iowa, Nebraska, the Dakotas and Wisconsin.

In This Week's Issue of TIME....

Northern Natural Gas Company Tells The Lincoln Story

In a full-page, full-color advertisement in the current issue of Time, Northern Natural Gas Company tells the Lincoln Story.

The future growth and development of Northern Natural Gas Company depends, to a major extent, upon the industrial growth and development of the Northern Plains area.

By publishing this advertisement, and others like it, Northern Natural Gas Company hopes to attract new business and new industry to Lincoln and other cities of the Northern Plains.

The issue of Time containing this advertisement will be read by more than three million people... over 40%

of all the business executives in the entire U.S.*

Northern Natural Gas Company believes that this advertisement will bring Lincoln to the attention of these readers... will induce many of them to visit Lincoln... may lead eventually to the establishment of branch offices, manufacturing plants or other businesses in this city. To that purpose it is dedicated.

Plans Completed For Water Groups' Meet

HOLDREGE, Neb. (AP)—The Nebraska Reclamation and Irrigation Associations gather in Holdrege Thursday for two days of joint convention meetings on Nebraska's water problems.

George A. Munn of Ord, president of the irrigation group, will preside at the morning session Thursday and Arthur C. Johnson of Kearney, president of the reclamation association, will preside in the afternoon.

The Reclamation Association will hold its separate business meeting late Thursday afternoon and the irrigators will transact their business the first thing Friday.

An address by Sen. Carl T. Curtis (R-Neb.) of Minden will highlight the closing luncheon Friday. C. V. Price of Lincoln, chief of the division of Nebraska resources, will speak at a Thursday evening banquet.

The opening session will feature a panel discussion on water laws. Panel members will be Bert L. Overcash, Lincoln; C. L. Baskins, North Platte and L. A. Danielson, Scottsbluff, all lawyers; and George R. Johnson, chief engineer of the Central Nebraska Public Power and Irrigation District, Hastings.

Ex-NU Student, 32, Ordained As Buddhist Priest In Japan

KYOTO, Japan (AP)—A 32-year-old Nebraskan has become a Buddhist priest here.

Robert E. Wheeler of Nebraska City was ordained Oct. 16 at Jujutsu Temple and given the name Shuzen, meaning "absolutely excellent."

Wheeler said he became interested in Buddhism 12 years ago, tracing it "possibly to a book I once read on eastern philosophy."

In 1947, after moving to Hawaii, Wheeler joined a Buddhist sect to become better acquainted with Buddhist orthodoxy. In July of 1953 he came to Japan to learn more about it, and here met Buddhist scholar Philip Karl Edmann, who has been working and studying in Kyoto for the past eight years.

Wheeler also served as a lecturer in English language at Kyoto Women's University.

Cairo Youth Injured

GRAND ISLAND, Neb.—Dick Helzer, 15, son of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Helzer of Cairo, suffered a head injury when the horse he was riding stumbled and fell on top of him. Young Helzer was brought to a Grand Island hospital.

Mrs. Wheeler said they had received a letter from him only last week and he made no mention of it.

Wheeler was graduated from Nebraska City High School and attended the University of Nebraska from 1946 to 1950. Later, his mother said, he enrolled at the University of Mexico and received his bachelor's degree from the University of Hawaii. After teaching in Hawaii, he went to Japan three and a half years ago to work for an international insurance company. He hasn't been in Nebraska City for the past six years, his mother declared.

before you renew a single policy, find out about the Hartford Group's
1-Policy "Package" Plan

There are two ways to insure your home, your personal belongings and your personal liability.

One method is to buy three or more separate insurance policies.

But there's a much better way! As your Hartford Fire Insurance Company Group Agents, we'd like to tell you about it.

You can combine the fire, theft, liability and other insurance you need for your home into ONE policy—a Hartford Group "Package" Policy. And doing this can save you as much as 20% of what you would have to pay for separate policies giving you the same broad and dependable protection.

Don't overlook the real convenience of a Hartford Group "Package" Policy, either. Just one policy to keep track of... one policy to pay for. And, if you wish, installments arranged to fit your budget.

A final—and important—point. There's no need to wait until your present policies expire before enjoying the advantages of a Hartford Group "Package" Policy. We can arrange the details for you at once.

New Industry Claim Phony, Says Sorrell

KEARNEY, Neb. (AP) — Frank Sorrell charged Tuesday that Gov. Victor Anderson's claims he is bringing into Nebraska new industries which will use agricultural surplus products is a "phony."

Sorrell, Syracuse Democrat who seeks to unseat Anderson, declared his opponent "seems to be only shadow-boxing. As a matter of fact the party he represents only a few weeks ago definitely refused funds for the purpose of re-activating the huge Omaha Alcohol plant."

"This plant, if operated at capacity, would take care of all our surpluses. It also would furnish our farmers with much cheap fuel for power purposes," Sorrell said.

"This misrepresentation is only one of a series in the program announced by my opponent. It should give the voters an insight into the character of the man who is trying to smile his way into a second term," he added, asserting that the only new industries which have come into the state during Anderson's administration were brought in by public service organizations in the various cities and towns of the state.

Drought Area Wheat Conditions Darken

While Nebraska farmers carried the corn harvest to 53 per cent of completion last week, winter wheat conditions continued to sag, government crop observers reported Tuesday.

"A general rather heavy rain" is needed to pack the soil around drought-hit wheat plants before winter arrives, according to the State-Federal Division of Agricultural Statistics.

The weekly crop report painted a discouraging picture of wheat after another week without precipitation except for a few local rains in eastern Nebraska.

"Generally, stands of wheat are very irregular and that part of the crop that is up has not developed normally," the report said.

Top Soil Loose

"Crown roots have not developed and the plant is being held only by the tap root. The top soil is very dry and loose and is subject to wind."

The 53 per cent completion of the corn harvest compared with 33 per cent a week earlier. Mechanical pickers have been knocking off a number of ears from brittle stalks in dryland areas, the report said. Some farmers have gleaned the fields while others are turning cattle in to pick up the fallen ears.

Other Observations

Sandhills ranchers have been moving stacks of hay to feed yards, rounding up cattle for delivery to contract buyers and moving some cattle to market.

Sandhills hay supplies, while short, appear adequate for normal winter feeding.

In southern Nebraska there has been a rather heavy movement of alfalfa to southern drought areas, and reports indicate the price of alfalfa has advanced during the past month.

Dry weather is causing some difficulty in operation of mechanical sugar beet harvesters.

Pasture and range feeds continue extremely short and even where pasture grass is ample, it is dry, brittle and dusty and needs a general rain to become more palatable to livestock.

Rainfall totals during the week

included .34 at Grand Island, .03

at Lincoln, .35 at Norfolk, .15 at Omaha, .07 at Burwell, none at North Platte, Valentine, Chadron,

Imperial, Scottsbluff or Sidney.

from Bohemia when she was 17 years old.

Surviving are a son, George of Lincoln, a daughter, Mrs. Clara

Dunder of Wilber; four grandchildren and two great-grandchildren.

The Sheldons, who celebrated their 56th wedding anniversary last April 17, are the parents of two sons and two daughters, Chauncey C. and Charles H., and Mrs. H. D. (Helen) Hunter and Mrs. R. P. (Mary) Nelson. The sons, both lawyers, live in Lincoln. Mrs. Hunter lives in Columbus. The Nelsons farm near Columbus. The Sheldon's are grandparents of 13 grandchildren and have four great-grandchildren.

Mr. Sheldon is one of the founders of the Loup River Public Power District and the Consumers Public Power District, and still is a member of Consumers' board of directors.

Mrs. Sheldon is a native of Muncie, Ind., and moved to Blair, Neb., with her family in 1886.

Mr. Sheldon served as president of the Columbus Centennial Corp., which headed up the city's celebration of its 100th anniversary this year.

The Sheldons donated the land to the YMCA where Camp Sheldon (Nebraska State YMCA Camp) is located near Columbus.

State GOP Campaign Fund Totals $102,803

By ROY CAMPBELL
Star Staff Writer

State Republicans reported $102,803 in their war chest for the state campaign, according to a public report filed with the Secretary of State.

Two other reports, both for Lancaster County, were filed. One, by Carl Ganz, treasurer of the county GOP committee, said the group had $467.29 on hand at the beginning of the campaign.

The Nebraska Republican finance committee said it placed $1,500 in the county campaign coffers for use by the local Republicans.

In the general list of contributions made from throughout the state, the report filed by the State GOP said $1,247 was collected from the Republican Statehouse Club. This was formed to accept contributions from state employees, both those employed in the Statehouse and those working throughout the state.

Another report filed was for the "Anderson for Governor" campaign. The governor said he would accept no personal contributions to his campaign.

The "Anderson for Governor" campaign total was $1,150. Don P. Harrington Sr. of Lincoln is treasurer.

Top Contributors

Among the top contributors to the state GOP coffers were Thomas C. Woods, $1,000; Nathan J. Gold, and Howard S. Wilson, $500 each, and Mrs. Hazel Abel, $400.

Douglas County GOP Central and Finance Committees handed the largest sum to the state organization, $5,500.

Other county GOP central committees donated the following amounts to the parent organization:

Adams, $2,000; Antelope, $410; Brown, $300; Cedar, $350; Colfax, $690; Franklin, $700; Gage, $250; Grant, $1,000; Hamilton, $160; Thayer, $110; Knox, $100; Lincoln, $1,063.20; Dakota, $550; Hayes, $70; Lincoln, $200; Otoe, $100; Platte, $1,000; Sarpy, $500; Sioux, $500; Boyd, $100; Butler, $300; Clay, $250; Hall, $484; Jefferson, $250.

Sorosis, $100; Wayne, $1,368; Webster, $400; Sarpy, $450; Dodge, $1,820; Hall, $1,750; Madison, $1,600; Rock, $200; Thurston, $250 and Box Butte, $500.

Hit-Run Penalty: Visit Each Week To Lame Victim

ST. LOUIS (INS)—Circuit Court Judge Theodore McMillian has paroled a hit-run driver with orders that he visit his crippled victim weekly for two years and contribute a minimum of $10 monthly toward the victim's support.

Police testified the motorist, 24-year-old Cass Thorpe, was intoxicated when his car struck Jodie Loftis, 62. Loftis' right foot was amputated.

Beats me how she does it! All those youngsters, that big house and everything as neat as a pin! Yet she has more free time than any of us!

Give up, girls? Then I'll let the eat out of the bag. Betty's no superwoman! She simply finds the quickest, easiest way to do her housework. For example, she never fools with messy wood floor washing. She uses Bruce Cleaning Wax. It cleans as it waxes in one easy operation. And her wood floors look like a dream. Try it! Bruce Cleaning Wax or Bruce Floor Cleaner for a light wax coat. Both give the same wonderfully easy clean-as-you-wax results.

Fun For The Cousins

We know that considerable concentrated visiting is being done by Mrs. Wesley Barton (left) who with her young son, Tommy, arrived a few days ago from Lake Charles, La., but we doubt very much if it surpasses the activity of the young cousins—Tommy, and the three Thorne small-fry.

Mrs. Barton and Tommy are the house guests of Mrs. Barton's cousin, Mrs. Charles Thorne, Mr. Thorne and their family and it is apparent that the young Thorne and their mother are thoroughly enjoying their guests.

SUBURBIA

The spotlight in Country Club Manor this morning is shining on the homes of many couples who are making plans for the Nebraska migration to Colorado this week end. Included in the group from the community will be Mr. and Mrs. John Mason, Mr. and Mrs. Oliver Magee, Mr. and Mrs. Leo Beck Jr., and Mr. and Mrs. William Ferguson.

And joining the John Masons for the trip will be Mr. and Mrs. Richard Agee, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Silverman, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Nicola of Wissner, Dr. and Mrs. James Bell of York and Mr. and Mrs. James Nicola of Denver, Colo., who recently moved from the Country Club Manor neighborhood.

What a special day it was last Sunday for Mr. and Mrs. E. M. Weaver, Sr. — for on that day, Mrs. Weaver honored her husband at a birthday dinner and the noted occasion brought a gathering of 20 relatives. Those present for the affair were Mr. and Mrs. Vivian Brian, Columbus; Mrs. O. W. Kaminska, Denver, Colo.; Mr. and Mrs. William Thornton and their four children; Mr. and Mrs. E. M. Weaver, Jr., Mr. and Mrs. S. W. Weaver, Dr. and Mrs. Ray Knapp and Mrs. Dorothy Ripley.

We're sure that Nancy and Ricky Knapp are looking forward to the week-end, as all children do when they know that their grandparents are coming for a visit. And arriving Thursday or Friday to spend a week with

COUNTRY CLUB TERRACE

Douglas Jay Shurtliff, son of Mr. and Mrs. L. Edwin Shurtliff, 3912 So. 20th, celebrated his first birthday anniversary on Monday, Oct. 22. To celebrate the occasion, his parents entertained 20 guests, including members of the family, friends and neighbors, at a birthday party at their home Sunday afternoon.

Last week, the Shurtliff's had a houseguest when Mrs. Shurtliff's mother, Mrs. C. M. Sherwood of Red Cloud, spent several days in Lincoln en route to Chicago and Appleton, Wis., to visit friends and family members.

NEWS DOES GET AROUND

NEWS does get around—and this morning we learned that another name is to be added to the list of December brides—We won't go any farther than clues at the moment, but we can tell you that the bride-elect is a member of the Grand Island public schools faculty—and that she is a member of Gamma Phi Beta.

The bridegroom-elect is a captain in the Air Force and is stationed at the Lincoln Air Force Base—He is a graduate of the University of Cincinnati and, so we hear, is an engineer by profession.

The father of the bride is exceptionally well known—especially among the groups who have been and who are students of agricultural botany at the University of Nebraska.

MENTION of one bride-elect brings thoughts of another—in this instance she is Miss Joyce Johnson whose marriage to William Olson will take place on Nov. 23.

Miss Johnson no sooner completes one series of prenuptial courtesies than another begins—On Thursday evening the bride-to-be will be complimented by Mrs. Robert Stephens and her daughter, Miss Barbara Stephens, who have invited guests for a dessert supper and a linen shower.

COMPLIMENTING Miss Johnson and her fiance on Friday evening will be Frank Hailgren who, following dinner, will entertain Miss Johnson and Mr. Olson at the "Tender Trap," the Community Playhouse production.

A VARIETY of festivities for Miss Johnson takes place next week—On Tuesday, for example, Miss Johnson and her mother, Mrs. R. O. Johnson, will be the luncheon guests of Mrs. Bernard Knudson and her daughter, Mrs. Earle Barnette, when they entertain at the home of Mrs. Knudson.

EARLY November courtesies for Miss Johnson begin on Friday,

Extension Clubs Meet

Mrs. John Fifer was hostess to the members of the Find Out Extension Club Tuesday afternoon when the lesson on cake mixes was given by Mrs. William White and Mrs. George Danley.

Mrs. Danley, president, conducted the business meeting, and guests of the club were Mrs. Glen Umberger, Mrs. E. Fifer reading leader; and Mrs. Glen Reed, reading leader.

The lesson on cake mixes was given by Mrs. Reed and Mrs. L. C. Thompson. Mrs. Taylor will be hostess to the group on Nov. 12.

The Lookout Extension Club

members met Tuesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Herbert Everett and elected the following new officers: Mrs. Rollie Burham, president; Mrs. A. E. Nicholls, vice president; Mrs. Everett Taylor, secretary; Mrs. B. C. Perkins, civil defense leader; and Mrs. Glen Reed, reading leader.

The lesson on cake mixes was given by Mrs. Reed and Mrs. L. C. Thompson. Mrs. Taylor will be hostess to the group on Nov. 12.

Medical Auxiliary Entertains

The Lancaster County Medical Society Auxiliary entertained at Tea Tuesday afternoon at the Lincoln General Hospital Nurses' Home with a group of Lincoln high school girls as special guests.

From the left are Miss Thomson; Cecilia Matthews, a student at Pius X High School; Beth Pietsch, Lincoln High School; Carolyn Walske, Northeast High School; Lynette Bonow, University High School; Mrs. Karl S. J. Hohlen and Mrs. M. P. Broisma, who served as co-chairmen for the tea.

Nov. 2, when Mrs. L. L. Coryell, Jr. will be a luncheon hostess at her home. The 10 guests will include members of the bride's mother's Alpha Chi Omega Bridge Club.

THE calendar for Sunday, Nov. 4, is the buffet supper for which Miss Mary Helen Mallory will be hostess when she entertains at her home in courtesy to Miss Johnson and Mr. Olson. Twelve guests have been invited.

Plan Annual Fun Night

Members of the Blessed Sacrament Home-School Association will entertain at their annual Fun Night program Wednesday evening at the school. The program will be held from 7 o'clock to 10 o'clock and will include entertainment for the adults as well as the children.

In charge of arrangements are Mrs. E. C. Mack, Mrs. Frank Koziol and Mrs. Lawrence Tripe, assisted by the room mothers.

Here is a pleasant little game that will give you a message every day. It is a numerical puzzle designed to spell out your fortune. Count the letters in your first name and add them together. If the sum is less than 6, add one; if more than 6, add three. The result is to be added to the number in the left-hand corner of the rectangle and check every one of your key numbers, left to right. BAERING DOWN ON THE NEWS By Arthur 'Bugs' Baer.

About this time of the campaign both sides stress retrenchments in the big economical package.

But it's a better talking point than a phonograph needle. It's as non-partisan as a roller towel.

Remember when Franklin D. invented deficit financing? We were going to eat our cake and have it too. And bake a bigger cake out of the crumbs.

Underground 'Sunlight'

LURAY, Va. (AP)—Tourists visiting Luray Caverns this year can use their cameras underground the same as for regular outdoor pictures. Natural sunlight has been duplicated in the caverns with special lights which permit either color or black and white pictures to be taken without flashbulbs.

Family Affair

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (AP)—An automobile failed to make a turn and crashed into the home of Nicolaus J. Haering. Two hours later another car, out of control, hit the home of Theodore Haering, five miles from the first accident. The Haerings are father and son; otherwise the two accidents had no connection.

Here is a pleasant little game that will give you a message every day. It is a number puzzle designed to speed out your letters. Count the letters in your first name. If the sum of letters is a multiple of 5, add 5; if the number is less than 5, add three. The result is your key number. Start at the upper left-hand corner of the rectangle and check every one of your key numbers left to right. Then read the message the letters under the checked figures give you. ### RUSKINS' DECISIVE WIN NETS SIX-MAN LEAD

By RON GIBSON

Star Sports Staff Writer

There is a new leader in The Star's high school six-man football ratings today.

Ruskin replaces Lawrence as the first-place team. Coach Sam Somerhalder's Indians, ranked second last week, climbed to the top by beating Lawrence 58-18.

Somerhalder, who likes to pitch horseshoes (in championship fashion) when he's not coaching, describes the important win over Lawrence as "definitely a team victory."

While Ruskin was taking the measure of previously undefeated Lawrence, there were other developments in the hot six-man chase. The eight-man ratings were little changed as Crofton held firm in the top spot.

Six-Man

Ruskin's climb past Lawrence was one of several moves.

Dannebrog climbed from fifth to second. The Danes are hot on the trail of Ruskin after a 48-0 defeat of Doniphan.

Diller held third with a 45-24 over previously unbeaten Lewiston. The Diller Eagles have now won 28 straight.

Alvo made a big jump from seventh to fourth.

Coach A. Jay Hanway's Alvo team rang up win number six, a 33-15 defeat of Brock. The Orioles have beaten three teams who are otherwise all-victorious — Brock, Eagle and Elmwood.

Indiana is fifth with a 5-0 record. Latest Indiana victim was Stratton, 44-12. Anselmo climbed from tenth to sixth and Napone went from ninth to seventh.

Campbell, Lawrence and Verdon round out the Top Ten. Pressing for recognition are Monroe and Spalding Academy.

Eight-Man

Crofton guarded its goal line perfectly again last week, beating Newcastle 38-0 for victory number six. Crofton has not been scored upon this season.

Crofton rates the edge over Exeter, Potter and Big Springs in a tight race. Stapleton is challenging, and the whole picture could change in next week's ratings.

Exeter hit a scoring high in beating Milford 57-7. Potter beat Dalton 31-13 and Big Springs was idle last week end.

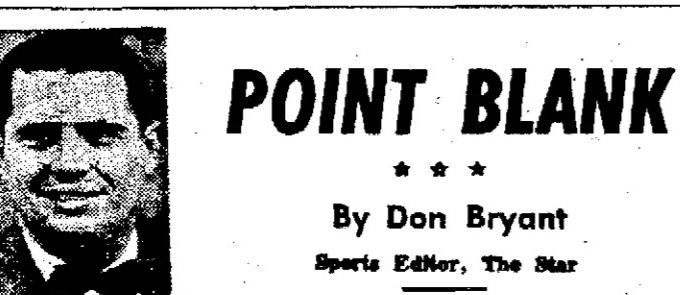

Stapleton moved into fifth by bouncing unbeaten Brady, 31-7. Sutherland, after a one-week absence, got back in the chart on the basis of a 51-6 win over Tryon and Stapleton's fine showing.

Sutherland was a one-touchdown (18-26) loser to Stapleton.

His suggestion: Match Oklahoma's first and fourth units against the Sooners' second and third squads.

Colorado has the Orange Bowl fever, but good, these days.

The Cornhuskers' for this week has three straight conference wins, with Nebraska, Missouri and Oklahoma still on the schedule. Wins over the Huskers and the Tigers would guarantee the trip to Miami.

Even Coach Dal Ward has his eye on the Orange Bowl, but he has enlisted the aid of Colorado sports writers to go easy on the discussion of the possibility.

"This ball club has a real chance to win second place in the Big Seven and get the Orange Bowl prize," Ward said recently.

"But you fellows (sports writers) have got to help if we are to make it. Just don't start building up our club to the point where people expect too much of us. Give our sophomores time to develop without so much pressure and let us play our games one at a time."

The Colorado sports writers very likely will co-operate with Dal.

But you can bet your "N" feather that the Nebraska Cornhuskers won't be in a gracious mood at Boulder Saturday.

MICHIGAN STATE ON TOP AFTER 47-14 WIN

By WILL GRIMSLY

The Associated Press

Oklahoma's Sooners, on the wave of a record 34-game winning streak, had a new incentive Tuesday for their game Saturday with Notre Dame—they want to win back their position as the country's No. 1 college football team.

Apparently only a decisive victory over the battered Fighting Irish, beaten in three of their four starts, can do it.

It was mainly on the strength of a thorough 47-14 wallop of Notre Dame last weekend that Michigan State moved into the top position of the weekly Associated Press poll, pushing the Sooners down to the runner-up position.

Drop To Second

It marked the first time this year that mighty Oklahoma, unbroken since Notre Dame turned the trick in the opening game at Norman in 1953, had failed to top the list. In 1953 Notre Dame won 28-21. Oklahoma was tied the following week by Pittsburgh. Then the present streak began.

Georgia Tech continued in a strong challenging position for national honors, holding third place with a comfortable lead over Tennessee, in fourth, and other members of the Top Ten including, in order, Michigan, No. 5; Southern California, No. 6; Texas A&M No. 7; Baylor No. 8; Ohio State No. 9 and Mississippi and Texas Christian, tied at No. 10.

Unbeaten, Untied

Of the first 10 teams, only the four leaders plus Southern Cal and Baylor are unbeaten and united.

This week Michigan State, which has waded through a tougher schedule than that of Oklahoma, drew 96 of the 156 first-place votes cast by sports writers and broadcasters. The Spartans amassed a total of 1,459 points on the basis of a first place vote, 9 for a second, etc.

Oklahoma, which whipped Kansas 34-12 without pushing itself, gained 44 first-place votes and a total of 1,356 points. Georgia Tech is the only other team in the 1,000-plus point bracket, with 1,182.

None of the teams outside Michigan State and Oklahoma has strong first-place support. Georgia Auburn leads Houston, 13-6, early in the fourth quarter. Auburn has the ball on its own 30, third down and seven, with a heavy wind blowing into their faces.

The Tigers ordinarily feature the keep-or-pitch play (quarterback runs parallel to scrimmage line, pitching to trailing back if end charges), but this half it hasn't worked well in several tries. Auburn has scored on a pass interception and a long drive early in the game when they went 30 yards without throwing a pass.

Houston has scored on a kickoff return.

Auburn has passed eight times for a total of 41 yards. You be the Auburn quarterback. Rate these plays 1, 2, 3 and 4.

Fresh Basketball To Start Nov. 1 At NU

University of Nebraska freshmen basketball players will report November 1, Coach Jerry Bush has announced.

Physical examinations for those candidates who have not taken one will be held that evening at 7:30 at the Student Health building.

Knights' Homecoming Tonight; Rockets Journey To Fairbury

consent of both schools, will start at 7:30 p.m.

Coach Bill Galloway's Northeast Rockets, still without a victory this season and who lost a prime opportunity for one in the Southeast game, may have their last chance for a win when they face Fairbury.

Last year, the Rockets took a 22-0 decision over the Jeffs but in this season the tables may be turned.

Against common foes Fairbury holds the edge, having been beaten by Nebraska City, 29-7 and Hastings, 13-7 while blanking Beatrice, 6-0. The Rockets lost to Nebraska City, 26-6, were whitewashed by Hastings, 25-0 and fell before Beatrice, 27-13.

Included on the program are a ham dinner; charter presentation; musical numbers; and a talk on stream pollution in Nebraska and its connection with fishing by William Weigel, chairman of the Chamber of Commerce sanitation committee at Beatrice.

The game, which was originally scheduled for the Lincoln High Oval but which has been switched to Magee Stadium following the decision of the Nebraska City school board, will be held at 8 p.m. at the Student Health building.

Beatrice—A "charter night" banquet is planned for Tuesday, Oct. 30 at 7 p.m. at the Beatrice VFW Hall by the Gage County Fish and Wildlife Association, newly chartered sports club. The club has been active in support of the proposed Burchard Lake Project.

Pierce, Lemon Notch Best Completed-Game Record

NEW YORK — Billy Pierce, slightly built Chicago White Sox left-hander, and Cleveland's Bob Lemon, who went the distance only five times in 1955, put together the best complete-game records among major league pitchers in 1956.

The 5'10, 160-pound Pierce finished 21 of the 33 games he started for a complete-game average of .586. Lemon had 21 complete games in 35 starts for a .600 mark.

Whitey Ford of the New York Yankees, the American League's earned-run leader, also finished with .600 as a result of 13 route-going performances in 30 starting assignments.

20-Game Winners

Lemon was a 20-game winner for the seventh time. Pierce also won 20 games and Ford picked up 19 victories.

Figures compiled by The Associated Press also revealed Tuesday that Robin Roberts of the Philadelphia Phillies topped both circuits in number of complete games, 22. But, while failing to lead the majors, led their leagues with 20 games for the first time in complete games since 1949. Roberts started 37 times for a C.G. average of .555.

The figures (10 or more complete games) are:

Frank Lary, durable Detroit righthander, was the only other major league hurler to go the distance 20 times. Bob Friend of Pittsburgh had 19 complete games and Bill Hoest of Detroit, Early Wynn of Cleveland and Don Newcombe of Brooklyn each had 18.

Newcombe, a 27-game winner in the regular season but a failure against the Yankees in the recent World Series, started 36 National League games. He won two

22 Whoopers Have Visited In Nebraska

Nebraska is believed to have played host in recent weeks to 22 whooping cranes, one of the world's rarest wildlife species. State Game Commission Director Mel Steen reported Tuesday.

The sightings were accepted as authentic only after convincing investigation of circumstances and interrogation of the bird sighters, he said.

The huge white cranes are traveling from summer haunts in the northern reaches of the continent to winter nesting grounds at the Arkansas National Refuge in Texas.

The last U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service count showed only 27 known to be in existence.

No casualties among the cranes have been reported in Nebraska although a wounded whooper was sighted Oct. 11 near Dunning, Neb., Steen said. The same crane was seen again several days later and it appears the bird "may make it all right," Steen said.

Meeting Scheduled For State League

KEARNEY — An executive meeting for presidents of Nebraska State League clubs has been called by Harold George, league secretary.

The eight club presidents will meet Monday afternoon at Kearney.

Some of the topics up for discussion include adoption of a 70-game schedule starting June 16 and ending Labor Day, Sept. 2.

DANNEBROG — Don Johnson set the pace for five Dannebrog scorers here Tuesday night with 19 points to lead his team to 51-19 shellacking of visiting Cairo in a six-man battle.

Columbus Joins Pirates' System

COLUMBUS, Ohio — John Galbreath, President of the Pittsburgh Pirates, Tuesday night announced that the Pirates have entered into a working agreement with the Columbus Jets of the International Baseball League.

The Jets will receive 25 players from the Pirate organization. They had been a farm club of the American League's Kansas City Athletics but severed the connection at the end of last season.

Pierce, Lemon Notch Best Completed-Game Record

NEW YORK (AP) — Billy Pierce, slightly built Chicago White Sox left-hander, and Cleveland's Bob Lemon, who went the distance only five times in 1955, put together the best complete-game records among major league pitchers in 1956.

The 5-10, 160-pound Pierce finished 21 of the 33 games he started for a complete-game average of .636. Lemon had 21 complete games in 35 starts for a .600 mark.

Warren Spahn, veteran Milwaukee southpaw was runner-up to Roberts in the National League. He had 20 complete games in 35 starts for a .571 slate. Spahn posted three shutouts among his 20 victories.

Frank Lary, durable Detroit righthander, was the only other major league hurler to go the distance 20 times. Bob Friend of Pittsburgh had 19 complete games and Billy Hoeft of Detroit, Early Wynn of Cleveland and Don Newcombe of Brooklyn each had 18.

Newcombe, a 27-game winner in the regular season but a failure against the Yankees in the recent World Series, started 36 National League games. He won two games as a relief pitcher.

Cleveland and Milwaukee, with reputedly the best pitching staffs in the majors, led their leagues in complete games.

IAAF Rules New Javelin Style Out

LONDON (AP) — The International Amateur Athletic Federation Tuesday killed the Spanish discus-style of javelin throwing that was threatening to make a mockery of track and field in the forthcoming Olympic Games.

By using the twirling method of hurling the spear, unknown athletes were smashing the world record. Outstanding javelin throwers were achieving incredible distances that an Olympic stadium wouldn't be big enough to hold.

Also, the new style carried with it threat to life and limb. No one, especially the javelin thrower, had any idea where the spear would go.

Columbus Joins Pirates' System

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — John Galbreath, President of the Pittsburgh Pirates, Tuesday night announced that the Pirates have entered into a working agreement with the Columbus Jets of the International Baseball League.

The Jets will receive 25 players from the Pirate organization. They had been a farm club of the American League's Kansas City Athletics but severed the connection at the end of last season.

Falls City Quarterback Poage Named 'Player Of Week'

By RON GIBSON

Star Sports Staff Writer
Jim Poage of Falls City is The Star's high school "Football Player of the Week."

Twice in the last quarter, Poage came through with a fine recovery under pressure. Each time he kept the Tigers from getting in the hole. Poage's punting early in the game had been good. In the fourth quarter, as Jim prepared to punt, the pass from center was high. He grabbed the ball, dodged three pursuers and got off a good kick on the run.

The next time Poage tried to punt the same thing happened. Jim responded the same way, and boot ed a dandy which went out of bounds on the Nebraska City 11.

Poage, a 167-pound junior quarterback, displayed his many talents to the Nebraska City Pioneers as Falls City came off with a 13-6 victory last week.

Poage was understudy to Jerry Collier last year and didn't get much attention outside of the Falls City football camp. Collier, the Sunday Journal and Star's prep athlete of the year and also a "Player of the Week" last year, drew most of the rave notices.

Collier, now a freshman at Peru State Teachers College, was in the stands last Friday night to watch his successor perform.

Poage's generalship was outstanding. His short passes to Tiger ends were devastating. Those accurate flips were key plays in the drive that produced the first Falls City touchdown.

After Falls City got the touch down to tie Nebraska City 6-6 with seconds remaining in the first half, Poage kicked the extra point to put his team ahead.

Jim's conversion would have been enough, but Falls City added a clinching touchdown later on John Werner's long run. Werner had scored the first FC touchdown on a pitchout from—you guessed it—Poage.

Kowalski Named Topeka Manager

TOPEKA, Kan. (AP)—Art Kowalski, general manager of the Baton Rouge, La., team in the Class C Evangeline League for the last two years, Tuesday was given Topeka's general manager. The board of directors of the Topeka club said Kowalski is to assume his new duties Nov. 1 at an annual salary of $7,200.

Lester and Gary Lipkin, Ruskin—Their team may have been outstanding all year, and was tops in the Class A Western League.

Bob Miller, Oshkosh—Line players Lester, Steve Crofton—All-state candidates agreed to touchowns in 35-23 win over Newcastle.

Louis Hansen and Bruce Young, Sergeant Bluff—Sergeant Bluff, Oshkosh—Mert Newkirk, Oshkosh—Line players featured 40-13 win over Chippewa in the Class A ratings.

Dick Williams, Waukon—Scored a return, 70-yard kickoff return and one more touchdown boosted Miller past Eau Claire 23-14.

Gary Erdman, Trenton—Defensive standout's Trenton beat topless Waukon 12-0.

Tommy Johnson, Pocahontas—Line players—Scored a touchdown, passed for another, set up two more with passes, intercepting one and took a share of the tackles against North Bend.

Bob Dubbs, Wood River—Three touchdowns in less than two minutes to play to beat Sheldahl 7-0.

Mr. Koffrowitz, Grand Island Central Catholic—Kicking, leading him straight to victory as he booted 29-yard field goal, put four of six kickoffs into the end zone, zone.

Larry Walberg, Eagle—Big drop kick beat Mead, 7-6, made Eagle's eighth-man football debut a success.

John Voss, Waukon—He ran 33 yards for the touchdown which beat Beatrix, 6-0.

Mike Gross, York—Quarterback's consistent passing accounted for three touchdowns, kept Wahoo off balance all night in York's 20-0 win.

Bill Van Cleave, Southeast—Gained the holes for touchdown plunges that beat Northeast.

Don Peacock, Hastings—Triggered a victory over Norfolk.

Pat Fischer, Omro—Westside—Three touchdowns, two in relay races.

Louis Myers, Broken Bow—Homecoming king scored two touchdowns in his 19-12 win over Council Bluffs.

Gene Sterzer, Omaha North—Pass grab in second half stunned Lincoln High, and the lead went to the back, Kent Lewellen in name, against Miller.

Terrance Peeken, Dorchester—Passed three touchdowns and ran one, too, as Dorchester's Westside 18 to 10 in Dorchester's first conference championship.

Mark Murray, Cedar Rapids—Freshman back had never carried the ball in a high school game before last week, but on his first three tries against Waukon he ran for touchdowns, each run covered over 40 yards.

YOU BE THE QUARTERBACK ANSWER

4. Flat pass. Worst call. You're leading and have the ball on your own 30. An interception might be fatal.

3. Punt. Wait until fourth down to kick.

2. Dive. Can't expect seven on this safe.

1. Keep or pitch. Best call. The wind is against you and you lead. Play it safe but go for a first down with your best play, even though it's not been clicking.

mellow-mash bourbon

Yellowstone

For over 100 years, people have been discovering something "new" in old Kentucky. It's a different bourbon—better, smoother, remarkably free of bite.

The reason? It has the best characteristics of sour-mash bourbon and sweet-mash bourbon. It's one step better—mellow-mash, the exclusive Yellowstone way of achieving full bourbon flavor with light body.

People outside Kentucky are discovering this old favorite. Why don't you? Once you taste it, you'll know why it's called "the greatest American whiskey!"

Architecture Curriculum Change Explained*'Merely Dropped Name'

The University of Nebraska Board of Regents' action last Saturday in discontinuing the curriculum of architectural engineering has been misinterpreted in some cases as elimination of the department of architecture.

Linus Burr Smith, department chairman, said Tuesday the confusion arose because many people refer to architecture as "architectural engineering."

In effect, he said, the Regents merely dropped the name of architectural engineering which was one of two curricula to comply with the practice of most state examining boards.

"Practically no state examining board recognizes a professional division entitled architectural engineering. The graduate must, therefore, become registered either as an architect or as an engineer," Smith said.

Smith said in addition to a design option, the curriculum in the department of architecture will have a construction option, the latter being developed along the lines of the discontinued architectural engineering curriculum.

Architecture Curriculum Change Explained*'Merely Dropped Name'

The University of Nebraska Board of Regents' action last Saturday in discontinuing the curriculum of architectural engineering has been misinterpreted in some cases as elimination of the department of architecture.

Linus Burr Smith, department chairman, said Tuesday the confusion arose because many people refer to architecture as "architectural engineering."

In effect, he said, the Regents merely dropped the name of architectural engineering which was one of two curricula to comply with the practice of most state examining boards.

"Practically no state examining board recognizes a professional division entitled architectural engineering. The graduate must, therefore, become registered either as an architect or as an engineer," Smith said.

Smith said in addition to a design option, the curriculum in the department of architecture will have a construction option, the latter being developed along the lines of the discontinued architectural engineering curriculum.

Estes Accuses Administration Of Refusing To Face The Facts

... Kefauver Speaks In Farm Belt

By B. L. LIVINGSTONE
M A S O N C I T Y, Iowa (AP)—Sen. Estes Kefauver Tuesday accused the Eisenhower administration of "wasted opportunities" for peace and "refusing to look any of the facts of international life squarely in the face."

"Either that, or else it has been guilty of attempting to perpetrate a monstrous fraud upon our people," he said.

In a speech prepared for delivery at a rally in this northeastern Iowa city, Kefauver declared American prestige has dropped around the world, that peace is on an unsolid footing and that communism has not been stopped "dead in its tracks" as Republicans contend.

He said America "urgently needs an administration that doesn't wear rose-colored glasses" and that "looks facts squarely in the face."

"Bragging"

"The Eisenhower administration has been so busy bragging its accomplishments — many of which are in the realm of fancy — that it has failed to acknowledge that the alliances upon which our security rests are falling apart at the seams," he said.

Keeping on a dawn-to-midnight schedule, Kefauver campaigned across the heart of the corn belt Tuesday.

In Republican Iowa where farm unrest is reported pronounced, Kefauver earlier at Waterloo accused the Eisenhower administration of using the farm soil bank program and higher farm income "promises" as "1956 election bait."

He charged the GOP with "political ticketing" with the billion-dollar soil bank program for paying farmers to take surplus-producing cropland out of production.

"Political Needs"

"The soil bank is being cut and trimmed to fit the political needs of the Eisenhower administration in this election year," he told a farm-labor audience at the Waterloo Fairgrounds.

"The money is being spent in states where Republicans are in the most serious political trouble

Cave-In Victim Asks Damages Totaling $236,000

A $236,100 personal injury suit has been filed in Lancaster District Court by Ralph Graves of 4850 Sherman.

Graves, a plumber, is suing Harold Schwark, an excavating contractor of 5128 Locust.

The suit, filed by Graves' wife, Ruth J., claims he was "totally paralyzed" as the result of an excavation cave-in April 14, 1955, near 3320 So. 42nd.

Graves was employed as a plumber working in a 14-foot sewer line trench when the mishap occurred.

He contends Schwark was negligent in the operation of certain equipment, which allegedly caused the cave-in, and in directing rescue operations.

Graves alleges his spinal cord was snapped when he was dragged from the partially-filled trench with a garden hose around his waist.

By B. L. LIVINGSTONE
MASON CITY, Iowa (UPI)—Sen. Estes Kefauver Tuesday accused the Eisenhower administration of "wasted opportunities" for peace and "refusing to look any of the facts of international life squarely in the face."

"Either that, or else it has been guilty of attempting to perpetrate a monstrous fraud upon our people," he said.

"The money is being spent in states where Republicans are in the most serious political trouble — states like Iowa," he declared. He said the GOP is depending on the soil bank "to pull it through the election after three years indifference to rising surpluses and falling prices."

At Waterloo, Kefauver was greeted by a street-filling crowd of packinghouse workers when he arrived for lunch at the headquarters of Local 46, CIO-AFL United Packinghouse Workers.

Aprons

The workers, many of them still in white aprons and caps from their jobs in the huge Rath Meatpacking plant across the street, cheered his arrival.

Later at the fairgrounds, Kefauver spoke before an audience of AFL-CIO workers and members of the National Farmers Organization, a recently formed farm group.

Turning to international affairs, Kefauver said here in Mason City that the United States needs a "realistic" administration that "doesn't believe the right way to achieve peace is to walk along the brink of war."

COUNTY MAY EARN $7,000 YEARLY FROM IDLE FUNDS

Lancaster County should put its idle inheritance tax funds to work earning money, Commissioner Del Lienemann told the county board Tuesday.

He moved for a resolution instructing the county treasurer to invest in U.S. securities all money in excess of $10,000, leaving only a continuous $5,000 balance.

The inheritance tax fund balance is currently approximately $20,000.

Invested in short-term government securities, Lienemann said, the fund would earn up to $7,000.

New Father

TOKYO (INS)—One of the crewmen of the atom-dusted Japanese fishing vessel Lucky Dragon has become the father of a healthy baby.

Some Japanese doctors said that this refuted earlier medical theories that the first human victims of a hydrogen bomb fallout would never be able to achieve parenthood.

"The county can invest a surplus of its general funds, but let's make sure first if inheritance tax funds can be also," Brehm said.

Commissioner Chris Kuhner said he favors such investment, but suggested that "rural banks" be given a break in the handling of some transactions.

Farm-To-Market Roads Apparently Forgotten—Sorrell

GRAND ISLAND, Neb. (AP)—Frank Sorrell, Democratic candidate for governor, said that Nebraska farm-to-market roads in connection with the proposed interstate highway "seem to be lost in the shuffle."

Republican Gov. Anderson and his highway department "now seem to be only concerned with the proposed interstate four-lane highway," Sorrell said.

Sorrell said the governor is promising that in the next two years "Nebraska will build more hard-surfaced roads than at any time in history."

"What was the trouble with the two years just passed?" said Sorrell in a press release. "The governor was in power during that period and his highway department was forced to confess on several occasions that it did not have enough money to match dollars with Uncle Sam for roads."

WINSIDE, Neb.—Dedication services were held here for the new $130,000 St. Paul's Lutheran Church.

Guest speakers included the Rev. Walter E. Homann, Bancroft, north Nebraska District president; the Rev. H. A. Hilpert, Norfolk, father of St. Paul's pastor; and Dr. Lawrence Acker, Omaha, former Lutheran Hour speaker.

The new edifice, 30 by 100 feet, is of modified Gothic design with exterior walls of buff brick and Indiana limestone trim.

COUNTY MAY EARN $7,000 YEARLY FROM IDLE FUNDS

Lancaster County should put its idle inheritance tax funds to work earning money, Commissioner Del Lienemann told the county board Tuesday.

He moved for a resolution instructing the county treasurer to invest in U.S. securities all money in excess of $10,000, leaving only a continuous $5,000 balance.

The inheritance tax fund balance is currently approximately $200,000.

Invested in short-term government securities, Lienemann said, the fund would earn up to $7,000 a year at a 3 to 3½ per cent rate of interest.

While the county treasurer does invest surplus general funds in annual government securities, Lienemann said the inheritance tax funds can be also," Brehm said.

Commissioner Chris Kuhner said he favors such investment, but suggested that "rural banks" be given a break in the handling some transactions.

Board Chairman Russell Brehm endorsed Lienemann's motion for one week for further study.

Farm-To-Market Roads Apparently Forgotten—Sorrell

GRAND ISLAND, Neb. (AP)—Frank Sorrell, Democratic candidate for governor, said that Nebraska farm-to-market roads in connection with the proposed interstate highway "seem to be lost in the shuffle."

Republican Gov. Anderson and his highway department "now seem to be only concerned with the proposed interstate four-lane highway," Sorrell said.

Sorrell said the governor is promising that in the next two years "Nebraska will build more hard-surfaced roads than at any time in history."

"What was the trouble with the two years just passed?" said Sorrell in a press release. "The governor was in power during that period and his highway department was forced to confess on several occasions that it did not have enough money to match dollars with Uncle Sam for roads."

Nixon Says Stevenson H-Proposal Would Be Playing Into Reds' Hands

By JOE HALL

SOUTH BEND, Ind. (AP) — Vice President Nixon said Tuesday night Adlai Stevenson and Russian Premier Bulganin have made the same proposal for ending H-bomb tests—a proposal Nixon said "would be playing right into the Communists' hands."

The Democratic nominee's suggestions with regard to ending the draft and nuclear weapons tests, Nixon said in a prepared speech, show that "a vote for Stevenson is a vote for the weakness, indecision and inexperience which could lead to war."

Nixon declared that Stevenson should join "in support of the Eisenhower proposal for disarmament with inspection and against the Bulganin proposals which contain the same fatal flaw that Mr. Stevenson's proposals contain—agreement without inspection."

"If we were to agree to the Stevenson plan for stopping nuclear tests without insisting on an Eisenhower plan for inspection to guarantee that the agreement would be kept, we would be playing right into the Communists' hands," the Vice President said.

Barnstorming

Nixon rolled into South Bend late Tuesday in his special train after ending two days of intensive barnstorming in Michigan.

His speech Tuesday night had been billed as a major pronouncement on the campaign controversy over halting H-bomb tests, with particular reference to the Bulganin letter denounced by President Eisenhower on Sunday.

In tearing into Stevenson on the issue, Nixon said he did not question the "good intentions" of the former Illinois governor. But he added that Prime Minister Neville Chamberlain of Great Britain had good intentions of appeasing the Communists who have not acted in good faith, it would be too late for us to catch up."

Stevenson has said that any Russian break in an agreement to end H-bomb tests could be detected immediately by well known scientific devices.

Nixon branded this as "ridiculous" and said "obviously he forgets that it would take one to two years to prepare a new nuclear weapon for testing."

"Thus," he said, "if we kept such an agreement in good faith and waited until a new bomb superior to any we had was exploded by the Communists who have not acted in good faith, it would be too late for us to catch up."

Nixon said that on the H-bomb and draft issues, Stevenson has shown he puts "political considerations above national security" and that "this action alone is enough to disqualify him for the highest office in the land."

The Vice President whistle-

City Fire Depts. Can't Get Back Gas Tax Funds

City fire departments are not entitled to refunds of gasoline tax for fuel used in department vehicles.

This opinion was handed down Tuesday by the attorney general's office. Requesting the opinion was Clay Wright, chief of the division of motor fuels of the Department of Agriculture and Inspection.

The opinion held that although fire department vehicles do not pay registration fees, they still must be registered. It has been suggested, the opinion said, that because no registration fee is required, owners of such vehicles are entitled to a refund of the gas tax paid on gasoline used in such vehicles.

"We find no statutory provision," the opinion said, "which exempts motor vehicles owned by cities and villages from the legal requirements that they be registered."

He continued to predict that there is "a big ground swell" pointing toward Republican victory two weeks from Tuesday, but he also introduced a note of warning.

Starting at Lansing, Mich., Nixon declared "the moment we become over confident and say this election is in the bag, the American people will be left holding the bag. And it will be a bag full of empty Stevenson promises based on the political shell game of buying votes with your own money."

Stocks Decline In Sluggish Session

NEW YORK (P)—The stock market declined slightly Tuesday in one of the dullest of the recent sequence of sluggish sessions.

Volume totaled only 1,390,000 shares compared with 1,430,000 Monday and was the lowest since the Columbus Day bank holiday Oct. 12.

Few stocks found gains and losses within the range of $1 or so for the most part. There was no great pressure on the market.

Procrastination with the presidential prospects was said by brokers to be the single dominant factor in market inaction. It had prevailed in recent sessions. A number of analysts felt the present narrow trading range would continue until the election or until the results seem a certainty.

Except for a slight upward element of cautious buying, there was little impact on trading.

The market was mixed for a short spell in the morning, then turned to a long period of remained somewhat inactive trading.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks dipped 10 cents to 179.30 yesterday. The market's 10-day moving average down 30 cents and the utilities down 50 cents.

On the American Stock Exchange prices were slightly lower on volume of 6,500,000 shares compared with 7,100,000 Monday.

Stocks Decline In Sluggish Session

NEW YORK (P) — The stock market declined slightly Tuesday in one of the dullest of the recent sequence of sluggish sessions.

Volume totaled only 1,390,000 shares compared with 1,430,000 Monday and was the lowest since the Columbus Day bank holiday Oct. 12.

Key stocks kept their gains and losses in the range of $1 or more for the most part. There was no great pressure on any division.

Preoccupation with the presidential race was said to be the single dominant factor in the market, a condition which has prevailed in recent sessions. A number of analysts feel the present narrowing of political contours under election or until the results seem a certainty.

Except for adding another element of caution, the analysis seemed to have little impact on trading.

The market was mixed for a short spell in the morning, then assumed a general downward trend where it remained somewhat.

The average price of 90 stocks slipped 30 cents to $179.30 with the industrials down 40 cents, the rails down 50 cents and the utilities down 30 cents.

On the American Stock Exchange prices were generally lower on volume of 650,000 shares compared with 710,000 Monday.

Farm Income Being Lifted — Ag Agency

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Agriculture Department said Tuesday farm income is being lifted above last year's level by a hike in consumer buying of food and by increased farm output.

In its October report on the "demand and price situation" in agriculture, the department said farm receipts from marketings during the first nine months of 1956 were nearly 2 per cent more than in the corresponding period last year.

Increased marketings more than offset generally lower prices for farm produce to boost nine-month receipts to $20,200,000,000, the report said.

Anticipated

Further increases in the remainder of the year were anticipated because much of this year's larger farm production is yet to go to market.

"Total output of farm products may well be a record high," the report said.

"Crop output, according to Oct. 1 estimates, is close to the 1955 record in spite of drought in the Great Plains. Production of meat animals, milk, poultry and eggs continues to exceed year-ago levels."

The department said "expanding economic activity throughout 1955 and the first nine months of 1956 has contributed to a growing market" for farm products.

Trucklines Said Trying All Tricks To Escape Taxes

BEATRICE, Neb. (AP) — A backer of the proposed Nebraska ton-mile tax charged Tuesday night that the state's biggest trucking companies are using "every trick to escape from paying their fair share of property taxes."

The remarks were delivered by Max A. Denney, Fairbury attorney, at a Lions Club meeting here.

Denney said it had been "reliably reported" that an Omaha headquartered trucking firm last year "registered over 100 new truck-tractors in a precinct just outside of Grand Island where the tax levy is very low."

He said also that trucker representatives were able this year to obtain a 34 per cent reduction in the property tax assessments on two-year-old trailers, and a 14 per cent reduction in assessments on new trailers.

Denney said the ton-mile tax, upon which Nebraskans will ballot Nov. 6, will apply to only one out of every 30 trucks—those licensed to haul cargoes of 10 to 25 tons.

Burial will be in Smith Center.

Reynolds Water Issue Approved; Only Two Against

Lincoln Star Special

REYNOLDS, Neb. — A city water system proposal received an overwhelming vote of approval Tuesday.

By a vote of 90 to only two against, the $23,000 water bond issue carried.

The issue calls for bonds to be due in 20 years, but provides for an option whereby the city could redeem them five years after their issue.

Practically all of the town's 100 voters turned out at the polls.

Notice to Contractors

Sealed proposals will be received by the City Council of the City of Lincoln, Nebraska, at the office of the City Clerk, up to 10 o'clock a.m., Central Standard Time, Wednesday, October 31, 1956, for the construction of the water main in Storm Sewer Project No. 48-56, being in St. Paul and Madison Avenues, from Dead Man's Bend to 3rd Street and 38th and 41st Streets, from Madison Avenue to Adams Street and Cleveland Avenue from 38th Street to 40th Street, in said City, according to the plans and specifications of the City Engineer on file in the office of the City Clerk.

Dewey Accuses Adlai Of 'Spreading Political Smog'

H-Test Proposal Is Blasted

PASADENA, Calif. (AP) — Atomic lead to Communist Russia is the most dangerous proposal ever made by an American in our lifetime.

Former Gov. Thomas E. Dewey of New York said Tuesday Adlai Stevenson appears to have walked into a "Communist mousetrap" in his proposal for halting H-bomb tests.

Stevenson, Democratic presidential nominee, has said that if elected one of his first orders of business would be to seek world agreement on halting such tests.

Declaring the Russians want the United States to disarm without any proof they themselves were disarming, Dewey said in a prepared address for a Republican rally:

"The very idea that we should abandon everything we are learning in this field and surrender our

New Industry Tax-Immunity Plan Studied

Lancaster County's proposed tax-immunity plan for new industry will receive consideration by the Lincoln Industrial Development Corp., a non-profit organization seeking new pavilions for Lincoln.

In a letter to the county commissioners, former Mayor Clark Jeary, corporation president, said "The matter of taxation is one of great importance and it is heartening that your board has expressed itself on this subject."

"We will be pleased to pursue the subject further and will keep in touch as we make progress."

Board In Favor

Last week, the county board went on record as favoring a scale of tax immunity for new industry provided the necessary state legislation could be obtained.

The plan specifies no taxation on real estate the first year, a sliding scale of immunity—30, 60, 40 and 20 per cent—for the next four, and full taxation thereafter.

The board noted other states have enacted similar plans, but said it would not actively seek the needed legislation.

In his letter, Jeary noted "for the record" that the industrial development corporation was not organized by the Lincoln Chamber of Commerce, but that the company will work with the Chamber and other organizations.

Ban Continued On Texas' NAACP

TYLER, Tex. (AP)—Judge Otis T. Dunagan Tuesday issued a temporary injunction continuing a ban on operations by the National Assn. for the Advancement of Colored People in Texas.

The injunction was requested by the state.

The ruling was received quietly in a courtroom jammed with spectators, almost all of them Negroes. Eleven highway patrolmen and two Texas Rangers stood every few feet around the courtroom, but there was no disturbance.

At first Negro attorneys and spectators sat silently, then slowly began to whisper back and forth. W. J. Durham, NAACP attorney from Dallas, rose and gave notice of appeal.

Dewey Accuses Adlai Of 'Spreading Political Smog'

... H-Test Proposal Is Blasted

PASADENA, Calif. (UPI) — Former Gov. Thomas E. Dewey of New York said Tuesday Adlai Stevenson appears to have walked into a "Communist mousetrap" in his proposal for halting H-bomb tests.

Stevenson, Democratic presidential nominee, has said that if elected one of his first orders of business would be to seek world agreement on halting such tests.

Declaring the Russians want the United States to disarm without any proof they themselves were disarming, Dewey said in a prepared address for a Republican rally:

"The very idea that we should abandon everything we are learning in this field and surrender our

New Industry Tax-Immunity Plan Studied

Lancaster County's proposed tax-immunity plan for new industry will receive consideration by the Lincoln Industrial Development Corp., a non-profit organization seeking new payrolls for Lincoln.

In a letter to the county commissioners, former Mayor Clark Jeary, corporation president, said:

"The matter of taxation is one of great importance and it is heartening that your board has expressed itself on this subject."

"We will be pleased to pursue the subject further and will keep in touch as we make progress."

Board In Favor

Last week, the county board went on record as favoring a scale of tax immunity for new industry provided the necessary state legislation could be obtained.

The plan specifies no taxation on real estate the first year, a sliding scale of immunity—80, 60, 40 and 20 per cent—for the next four, and full taxation thereafter.

The board noted other states have enacted similar plans, but said it would not actively seek the needed legislation.

In his letter, Jeary noted "for the record" that the industrial development corporation was not organized by the Lincoln Chamber of Commerce, but that the company will work with the Chamber and other organizations.

Ban Continued On Texas' NAACP

TYLER, Tex. (UPI)—Judge Otis T. Dunagan Tuesday issued a temporary injunction continuing a ban on operations by the National Assn. for the Advancement of Colored People in Texas.

The injunction was requested by the state.

The ruling was received quietly in a courtroom jammed with spectators, almost all of them Negroes. Eleven highway patrolmen and two Texas Rangers stood ever few feet around the courtroom, but there was no disturbance.

At first Negro attorneys and spectators sat silently, then slowly began to whisper back and forth. W. J. Durham, NAACP attorney from Dallas, rose and gave notice of appeal.

Prayer Answered

RIO DE JANEIRO (UPI) — This gay city has outgrown its water supply. Water is rationed. People on some streets get water only two hours a week. But Gomez Carneiro, a quiet tree-lined street near Rio's famous beach, seemed forgotten. It had no water for a week. At the urging of a resident, the street decided to pray for water at 10 o'clock. At 10 o'clock the water came on. It's still on.

Pineau Arrives

LONDON (INS) — French Foreign Minister Christian Pineau came to London unexpectedly to confer with Foreign Secretary Selwyn Lloyd on new developments in the Suez Canal crisis.

Paris sources said the two foreign ministers were meeting to discuss messages they reportedly received from United Nations Secretary General Dag Hammarskjold.
